

Attention Church Easter Sunday

IN FRANKLIN VILLAGE

Community Church Marks Maundy Thursday Tonight

The Franklin Community Church, 32475 Normandy, will celebrate Holy Communion in the sanctuary at 8 p.m. this evening, Maundy Thursday.

Tables will be served in an upper room setting which has become a tradition of the church. The Chancel Choir will sing.

Beginning at 1 p.m. Good Friday, the church will maintain a 42-hour prayer vigil, marking the last hours of Jesus on earth, until 6 a.m. Easter Sunday morning.

Divine Science Sets Informal Query Series

Divine Science Church, 1128 W. Maple, Birmingham, is inaugurating a series of bi-weekly discussion groups to be conducted by Dr. Cushing Smith, a practicing metaphysician for many decades in Detroit, previously a teacher of Christian Science.

"These informal discussions will be of the question-and-answer type, open to anyone interested in divine metaphysics, particularly healing on a scientific basis of metaphysics, according to Frank C. Glabach, minister.

"DR. SMITH is one of the best-informed practitioners in this field, as indicated by his analysis of hundreds of diseases in his recent book, 'Can I Heal Myself and I Will,'" said Glabach.

Each discussion will center about some Bible incident, without respect to its historical setting but rather its practical application to the problems of daily life.

The first meeting will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the church. The subject will be "How Many Types of Sonship Did Jesus Recognize?"

Succeeding meetings will be on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

First Methodist To Receive Class Into Membership

Ninety young people will be received into membership and confirmed at a special Good Friday service at First Methodist Church at 8 p.m.

The young people have been in classes for a number of weeks. This group constitutes the largest young people's class ever received in the history of the church.

Maundy Thursday Communion service will be held in the sanctuary at 8 p.m. Dr. Arnold E. Runkel will give the meditation.

MUSIC FOR both services will be provided by the Chancel Choirs. On Easter there will be three morning services at 8:15 a.m., 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Dr. Thomas will preach on the theme, "The Message of the Risen Lord."

Closed-circuit TV has been installed in the chapel to accommodate an overflow of worshippers at each service.

Other Holy Week observances include a service of Holy Communion at 8 p.m. Maundy Thursday in the sanctuary and Good Friday services from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Clergyman Speaks Out On Juvenile Stealing

by the REV. KENNETH J. GASS, Pastor, St. James Episcopal Church

A great amount of talk has been going around this fair town of ours concerning the rampant stealing on the part of some of the young people—grade school and high school students.

It has been reported that as much as $500 a month is lost in one drug store alone, and the S. S. Kresge store on Maple has reported that $1,000 a month lost through stealing, is not uncommon.

The record stores are recognized as fair game and indeed it has become the "thing to do," if one can get away with records hidden under jackets, sweaters and in between magazines.

SPECIAL MIRRORS in drug stores and record houses have recently been put up so that the owner can more readily spot the ones trying to steal books, magazines and other such items.

Not all stealing is done by students, but the owners and police department tell us that 90 per cent of this type of pilfering is done by boys and girls in their teens.

This is an incredible indictment against our local citizenry, and it is always easy to point the finger of blame in one direction or another, but I say that we all are to blame—the churches, the schools, the parents and the young people.

But let me say with entire clearness and firmness that I am getting tired of having the parents blamed for everything. I think it is high time we place the majority of the blame right where it belongs and that is directly on those same young people who are involved in the stealing.

They know it is wrong! They know this before they begin, and they know it is wrong after the act is done even though they do not get caught.

WE HAVE BEEN going through a psychological and psychiatric bingie trying to find out the why of everything and trying to trace all actions back to this and that. Much of this analysis is valuable, but for the most part this stealing is going on just because these kids want something for nothing and for the thrill of getting away with it if they can.

If we are ever going to train our young people to grow up to be responsible citizens, then we are going to let them know their responsibility begins now and that they cannot always blame their misdeeds on someone else—either.

THE GREAT MAJORITY of young people with whom I have had the pleasure to deal, have been responsible, bright, attractive, capable boys and girls, and my only word to them is this—you have a responsibility when you know such action, as I have described above, taken place, to not close your eyes to it or go along with the idea that it is "funny." You should resent it and speak out against it with all the manliness you have.

If you don't, you are almost as much to blame as the person who steals or commits a felonious act or does damage to someone else's property.

THEY ARE NOT their parents or their friends or the condition of the world.

Certainly they may be confused and upset over the threat of war and world unrest—we all are, but that does not give us the right to steal and to do just as we darn well please.

OF COURSE SOME of these young people can justify their actions because of the actions of their parents. This is especially true when they see the head of the house cheat on his income tax, play false with the accident insurance policy or boast how he has padded the expense account and thus cheated his company out of a few dollars.

Indeed, this type of cheating is often done and spoken about with pride. Now I cannot blame the young people who come out of such an atmosphere for taking a dim view of honesty. They, too, can show how clever they can be in cheating the store owner although they probably won't reveal such actions to their parents.

Some who may read this article will scoff and write off this stealing as childish pranks and one of the phases that boys and girls go through. Some of it is done in this vein, but to the store owner it is not a prank and if it is a childish phase then they want this phase curbed.

IT IS INCREDIBLE that this is happening in supposedly such an affluent area as the suburbs of Birmingham-Bloomfield, but it also proves that crime is not relegated to the less affluent areas of our city and that people who steal are not confined to geographical areas. Who is to blame? All of us and especially the young people who steal. It is their responsibility and they must be made to realize this and to take the consequences when the action demands it.

Now this editorial must not be taken as an indictment against all teen-agers. Much of this kind of thinking has gone on among adults. A boy or girl breaks the rules, and the adults have been too quick to condemn all teen-agers.
