

Serving the Citizens of Michigan's Finest Suburban Residential Area

'Life After 60' Workshop Topic

A day-long institute on "Life After 60" is to be presented at Oakland University Wednesday, May 15...

Co-sponsoring the institute are the Oakland Planning Division of the Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit and the university.

Featured speaker will be Theodore Loerstadt, a national authority on aging and director of the four-year research project in aging undertaken by Family Service Association of America...

Other speakers will include Dr. Mark Kuska, doctor of geriatric services, Pontiac State Hospital; Charles Odell, chairman of the Michigan Commission on Aging...

Mrs. Ralph Gray, consultant on aging, UCS; Mrs. Roger Park, head librarian, Royal Oak Public Library...

What is good for Detroit is good for the metropolitan area is not a one-way street. "I am convinced, too, that Detroit's well-being depends in large degree on the health of suburbs...

THE DETROIT chief executive warned that unless communities were mobilized to solve their own problems...

Urban renewal was cited by Cavanaugh as a major factor in the saving of cities. At this moment we have 18 urban renewal programs of various types...

HE SAID an urban renewal program in Detroit will place to live it will also enhance the attractiveness of the whole metropolitan area.

He pointed out that urban renewal was not the only answer. "Communities must help themselves. They must work together with other communities..."

IN CLOSING the mayor told the 200 guests that Devos Gables "it matters not where you live, who you are or what you do."

WEST BLOOMFIELD Places Bond Issue on Ballot

WEST BLOOMFIELD — The bond issue of education Monday night approved putting a $1,600,000 bond issue on the June 10 ballot.

The money would cover the building, furnishing and equipping of a new junior high school in the area of Maple and Orchard Lake roads...

THE JUNIOR high school building would cost $800,000 and the three other would amount for another $800,000. The remaining $400,000 would go for an addition to Green School and additional equipment at present schools.

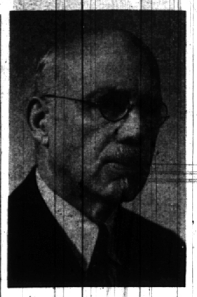

THE ACTION was taken at the special meeting, set up to consider a building program proposed by a citizen advisory committee.

Also on the ballot for the election are two seats on the board. Running for re-election are incumbents Paul Rich and Frank Marriot.

THE COMMITTEE recommended purchase of a 507 1/2 acre high school site near the center of the district which would also provide room for another junior high school should one be needed in the future.

It also suggested converting the present high school building at Orchard Lake and Commerce roads to a junior high school in addition to the purchase of a new junior high school site.

Also on the ballot for the election are two seats on the board. Running for re-election are incumbents Paul Rich and Frank Marriot.

GEORGE GOUGH BOOTH

GOP Names Chairman for '63 Ox Roast

SOUTHFIELD — Robert D. Dodge, 2820 Red Leaf Lane, has been named chairman of the 1963 Republican Ox Roast.

The Ox Roast is an annual gathering of Republicans and their families for a day of picnicking, fun and fellowship.

The 1963 Ox Roast will be held on Saturday, Sept. 7, at the John F. Ivory Polo Farm as Union Lake.

The announcement was made this week by GOP County Chairman Charles L. Lyle.

Dodge was chairman of the 1962 election day victory celebration for the Republican Party and served as an alternate delegate to the 1963 State Convention.

He has been active in actual precinct organization, from canvassing to voter registration.

Dodge appointed Richard D. Ernst, 4364 Orchard Hill Drive, Southfield, as vice chairman.

Ernst is active in community affairs, has served as president of the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce, Boardman Chamber...

Southfield Youth Struck by Car

SOUTHFIELD — A 15-year-old boy was critically injured Tuesday night when he was struck by a car on W. 10 Mile Road.

Edwin Karr, 19700 Hilton, Southfield, suffered multiple injuries and was taken to William Beaumont Hospital.

The driver, Mrs. Anna Wagner, also of Southfield, told police she did not see the boy. She said she saw a bump stopped the car and found the boy in the ditch.

She then drove to her home at 19358 W. 10 Mile Road to tell her husband and to call police.

B'ham Adopts Codification Of Ordinances

Birmingham's new city code will go into effect May 1. Commissioners Monday night formally passed resolutions adopting the new codification of the city's ordinances.

Codification generally consists of rewording old laws, striking new ones and discarding obsolete ones. Work on the codifying began in February, 1961.

COMMISSIONERS also established fees to be charged for persons wanting copies of the new documents. Paper bound copies will be $3; zoning ordinances (with map), $1; zoning map only, 50 cents...

Dedication Is Monday For New Booth School

Formal dedication ceremonies for the new George Gough Booth Elementary School are scheduled for 7:00 a.m. Monday at 7273 Wing Lake Road, Bloomfield Township.

Among the guest speakers will be the Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, southern bishop, Michigan Episcopal Diocese, who will pay tribute to the late Mr. Booth...

Other speakers include Homer Case, township supervisor; Eugene L. Johnson, superintendent of Bloomfield Hills schools; Dr. Charles L. Bowers, president of the Hills Board of Education...

CONSTRUCTION of the school began in February 1962. It was opened for first classes in the fall of the same year. The school presently accommodates 350 students.

The structure houses 12 classrooms, a library, two kindergartens, a multipurpose room, a clinic and an office. The school cost $449,300.

Opening the program will be the band and boys' choir of the school's fifth and sixth grades, under the direction of band director Bruce Waincock and choir director Lori Olsen.

The Rev. Hugh C. White, pastor of the Franklin Community Church, will give the invocation and benediction. Duval will be the master of ceremonies.

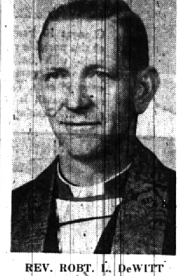

AMONG THE patrons of the school are Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Betsworth. The father is son of the late Mr. Booth and Mrs. Betsworth is a daughter.

George Gough Booth, who died in 1949, was a nationally known newspaper publisher, philanthropist and civic leader who was instrumental in the formation of Cranbrook. Besides being the founder and first president of the Arts and Crafts Society of Detroit, he was a member of the Founders' Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts...

Each gift was a reminder of Mr. Booth's oft-quoted paradox: "The only way to have is to give; the only way to keep is to share; and the only thing worth finding is opportunity."

ON NOV. 28, 1927, Mr. Booth

REV. ROBERT L. DEWITT

3 Girls Die In Home Fire In Southfield

SOUTHFIELD — Smoke inhalation killed three little sisters Sunday morning when a fire broke out in their home at 25142 Guy.

Five other children and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oraha Shounyia, escaped from the burning house.

Dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital were Carmen, 2, Aime, 3, and Aysler, 4. The father, 47, his wife, Najiba, 27, and their youngest daughter Vivian, 10 months, were admitted to Beaumont. Shounyia, who suffered burns on his face, arms and neck and a cut arm, was reported in satisfactory condition Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Shounyia suffered a cut wrist and was released Tuesday. The baby suffering smoke inhalation, was released Monday.

MRS. SHOUNYIA carried Vivian to safety from the second floor, and summoned a neighbor, Salim Shamoun, who lives across the street at 25233 Guy.

The remaining children, Frank, (See GIRLS, 7-A)

Exchange Club Sets Tooth Brush Sale

The Birmingham Exchange Club will hold its annual Tooth Brush Sale on Saturday, June 8.

City commissioners approved the date of the sale at Monday night's meeting. The father is son of the late Mr. Booth and Mrs. Betsworth is a daughter.

George Gough Booth, who died in 1949, was a nationally known newspaper publisher, philanthropist and civic leader who was instrumental in the formation of Cranbrook. Besides being the founder and first president of the Arts and Crafts Society of Detroit, he was a member of the Founders' Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts...

Each gift was a reminder of Mr. Booth's oft-quoted paradox: "The only way to have is to give; the only way to keep is to share; and the only thing worth finding is opportunity."

ON NOV. 28, 1927, Mr. Booth

Chamber of Commerce Pays Honor to Ex-Mayor Willett

A hug for Mr. Roberts—former Mayor Florence H. Willett gives William E. Roberts, Birmingham city commissioner and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, a hug at the Chamber's annual meeting at Devon Gables last week. Mrs. Willett was named the winner of the Chamber's first outstanding citizens award. Roberts presented her with a gift of a silver bowl from the Chamber.

At the group's annual meeting, Chamber Vice President and City Commissioner William E. Roberts presented Mrs. Willett an award for "outstanding citizenship." This was the first time the chamber had presented such an award.

The inscribed silver bowl cited Mrs. Willett for her outstanding work for the community. Roberts said the award will not be presented each year but only when there is a "person worthy of special recognition."

OUTGOING Chamber President Harold D. Marchus announced the new directors who were elected before the April 24 meeting. They are: Richard H. Turner of Harold Turner, Inc.; Harold D. Anderson, Snyder, Kinney and Bennett; and Henry M. Hogan, Jr., associate director of the Birmingham Economic and member of the law firm of Emery, Parsons & Bah.

The trio will serve three-year terms, replacing Michus, Donald L. Cummings and Henry F. Johnson. Michus and Johnson were president and vice president, respectively, for their work on the chamber.

DETROIT Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh, after-dinner speaker, stressed the need for cooperation between cities if the metropolitan area is to survive.

"Isolationism is an outdated unrealistic policy in our metropolitan urban complex as it is in international affairs."

"Our neighbors will not go away just because we turn our backs on them, and neither will our problems go away merely because they are the exclusive property of another community," he said.

HE SAID that all residents of the Detroit metropolitan area are really members of the same community. He noted that the same of a water line and hazardous to public health and safety don't stop at city limits, the mayor noted. He said Birmingham felt the effects of Detroit's unemployment.

He said, however, the belief of Kennedy administration declared it would not abandon nuclear testing unless Russia agreed to not less than 8 or 10 on-the-ground inspections by Uncle Sam annually. Now it seems that U.S. and C.S. are willing to settle for five such inspections—though at this writing the Soviets haven't completely agreed on this number. If five is agreed upon, Russia will have won another argument. Communism will have attained freedom. And, what is important, if our earth believe that the Soviets will measure up to their presumed willingness for the type of inspections that freedom must have, if such inspections should really "cover the water-front?" If the past is an augury of the future, can you expect Russia to live up to any agreement it makes? (All of which argues that Uncle Sam "had better continue to keep his powder dry.")

Uncle Sam's Space Age experts have discovered some scientific facts about the lovely planet Venus. Wondering if our earth forms of flora and fauna life existed there, they sent an electronically arranged gadget called Mariner into space, and it came within 22,000 miles of Venus, on its 180 million mile journey. Mariner reported back to U.S. scientists (See THIS & THAT, 7-A)

Human beings are taught "never to make a mistake." However, there is one place in every country where a mistake is valuable to some people. That's when a certain printing of a postage stamp is found to contain something that is desirable, or didn't contain something that it should. Such "mistakes," if there are not too many of them in circulation, become very valuable to philatelists.

France's President, Charles de Gaulle is giving the world the image of a modern Napoleon. He certainly is not cooperating with the free nations of this earth in their program of welding together the economic and military means of staffing off the march of Communism. At least, this is the way it appears to many observers of the international scene. Democracy in France has been hanging by a narrow margin for years, with so many political parties vying for control of the reins of government.

To adopt a policy of "coexistence" with criminality, whatever be its form, is to compromise with that evil. In individual cases, society seeks to capture and punish the criminal. In the case of nations (such as the evil of Communism in Russia) a mild acceptance of the numbers of "coexistence" may be necessary, since nations can't be captured and punished except by successfully waging war against them.

This and That by George R. Averill

Human beings are taught "never to make a mistake." However, there is one place in every country where a mistake is valuable to some people. That's when a certain printing of a postage stamp is found to contain something that is desirable, or didn't contain something that it should. Such "mistakes," if there are not too many of them in circulation, become very valuable to philatelists.

Advertisement for Ingander's furniture. Features two 6-piece and 5-piece furniture groups with prices of $79 and $179. Includes text: '2 REASONS', 'Ingander's', 'LEADS AMERICA IN', 'CASUAL FURNITURE', 'NORTLAND EASTLAND BIRMINGHAM'.