Teen-agers Take To Cool Playroom

A playroom can be a big help in keeping teenagers off the streets, many families have found. It doesn't have to be fancy, either. In fact, the more casual and functional playroom furnishings are the better.

A phonograph is standard equipment in most playrooms, but a television set, snack bar and table tennis are other popular items.

Although a playroom can be enjoyed all year long, many parents feel it's particularly important in summer when school is out and the youngsters have time on their hands. At this time of year, a playroom's attractiveness can be doubled if it's equipped with an electric room air conditioner.

MODERN ROOM air conditioners are designed to provide cool, filtered air as well as to maintain a comfortable humidity by removing excess moisture from the air. Parents will enjoy an air-conditioned playroom, too. It's ideal for informal entertaining throughout the year. In the summer it's cool, and in winter the room air conditioner moves stale, smoke-filled air and replaces it with filtered fresh air. This is done by the exhaust fan without using the cooling system.

For an emergency light for a dark stairway, attach a flashlight to the stair rail with a flashlight clip such as is sold at all auto-supply stores for use on steering columns. This light may be snapped on and off while in the clip or it can be easily removed when needed elsewhere.

Make a list of those "don't needs" today. Dial MI 4-1400 and a Classi Lassi will help you.
