

Wins College Scholarship

Seaholm High School senior Dawn Martin, 17, was announced Thursday as winner of a $4,000 Greater Detroit Chevrolet Dealers Association college scholarship for 1964.

DAWN MARTIN

She will receive $1,000 per year for four years to pursue her chosen field of study at any accredited college of her choice as long as a satisfactory academic record is maintained.

Miss Martin intends to enroll at Michigan State University where she will major in art.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Tracy Martin, 1328 E. Maple, Birmingham.

IN ACCEPTING the $4,000 Chevrolet scholarship, Miss Martin found it necessary to turn down a lesser creative art scholarship which already had been offered her by Michigan State.

Miss Martin's father, James Martin, is a salesman for Pat Patterson Chevrolet in Birmingham.

Week

J. Azzolina, is the same one that last year's Michigan Week parade. The band is appearing at Birmingham through the efforts of the 805th Air Rescue Wing at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens.

ONE OF the outstanding events of the Birmingham Public Schools participation in Michigan Week will be the all-school art show at Derby Junior High, according to Walter Piel, assistant administrator of the schools, who is in charge of the Thursday, Education Day, events.

The three-day annual event will open Friday, May 24, at 7 p.m. Students will demonstrate their skills in the different art fields at 7:30 and 9:30. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Saturday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Piel said there will be about 1,500 art objects representing all of the elementary and secondary Birmingham schools.

THE CLIMAX to Education Day will come at the close of the school day Thursday as the Birmingham Board of Education and the local branch of the American Association of University Women honor each professional staff member and principal in the school system.

AAUW members will serve as hostesses at a social hour in each of the 20 schools in the Birmingham district. More than 100 members of the group will participate, according to Mrs. Connie Pindo, chairman of the AAUW Education Committee.

"I feel this is an appropriate time to say 'Thank You' to those with whom we share our children," Mrs. Pindo said.

THROUGHOUT the week the schools will feature exhibits, assemblies and classroom activities centering around Michigan history, resources, culture, business and industry.

More than 700 school children will visit local business places, fire stations, library and the Birmingham Eccentric, Michigan's tree, the white pine, will be planted on the lawn of the senior school.

Mrs. Robin Bahr, chairman of the Friday Heritage Day program, said activities that day will get underway at 12 noon.

THE PIETY Hill Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will present a plaque to the city which makes note of Birmingham's original name, Piety Hill.

The plaque will be placed near Lake Jewelers at Maple and Woodward. After the plaque ceremony the activities will move to the Community House where Mrs. George Hillinger, past president of the League of Women Voters, will act as mistress of ceremonies.

Several long-time residents of Birmingham will be honored at the lunch along with the winners of the Citizens Action Committee-Birmingham Eccentric photographic contest.

CLIMAX of the week's activities will come Saturday with a day of special events.

At 8 a.m. father-and-son Little League baseball games will get underway at the various ball diamonds in the city.

Activities will shift to Quarten Lake at 10 a.m. for the annual Carp Carnival for the youngsters sponsored by the Birmingham Recreation Dept.

The highlight of the day will begin at 1:30 p.m. as a parade featuring more than 1,000 Girl Scouts gets underway from the municipal parking lots at Woodward and Oakland.

THREE BANDS will provide the music for the more than 2,000 participants according to parade marshal Sam Mitchell.

Also included in the line of march will be the civil defense unit from the forestry, fire, auxiliary and DPW departments. A squad of light aircraft from the Civil Air Patrol will pass overhead.

Mitchell said that several of the Birmingham-Bloomfield area schools will have floats in the parade and a group of local antique car buffs are also going to participate.

MEMBERS of the Birmingham City Commission will ride in open convertibles with fashion models and local high school athletes.

The parade will end at Shagin Park in time for the start of the largest outdoor fashion show ever held in the Birmingham area.

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants Division of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, the show will have a "Birmingham, Fountain of Fashion" theme in the parade and a group of local antique car buffs are also going to participate.

AFTER THE hour-long fashion show, the day's activities will end with the annual Optimist Club bicycle race around Shagin Park.

An added highlight to this year's race will be a battle between the Birmingham service clubs for the city's tandem bicycle championship.

DR. CARL L. MARBURGER, director of the Ford Foundation-supported Great Cities School Improvement Project, will be speaker at the 30th annual meeting of Area Service Association.

The association is a Torch Fund social service agency working in Oakland County. The 8 p.m. meeting will be held Tuesday at the Grant School, 2131 Gardendale, Royal Oak Township.

DR. MARBURGER'S topic is "Community School Concept." He has been an instructor at Wayne State University since 1954. His present project involves seven schools, kindergarten through 12th grade, with about 10,000 pupils and 400 staff members.

sign gathered 100 signatures outside the lot in an hour and a half.

Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham said all the people involved had the same goal to keep Birmingham as a now is but the difference was in how it should be done.

"I think we need 26,000 different opinions," Ingraham said. "People lose sight of the fact that most of the commissioners have lived in Birmingham for a long time."

INGRAHAM ASKED for an opinion poll of how long the commission members had lived in the city. The results: Roberts, 23 years; Mayor William H. Barium, 43 years; Charles A. Bentley, 30 years; Ralph A. Main, 34 years; Ingraham, 20 years; Robert W. Page, 13 years; and Brock, 14 years.

Later in the meeting Mrs. Ruth Shain, 813 Pierce, said the 48 years she had lived in Birmingham presented almost everyone.

MRS. SHAIN, wife of former Mayor Charles Shain, said it would be hard to forecast what the proposed parking lot would mean. She said she'd like to know how much study had been given to alternate proposals.

"I can't see the village enhanced by another ugly parking lot," she said. "I believe there are alternatives."

She noted, however, that the parking situation must be altered. The Community House would be unable to carry on its expansion program.

BREEK MADE a motion to refer the proposed parking lot plan back to the planning board to study an alternate plan. Barium supported the motion "so as to bring it to a vote."

In a discussion on the motion, Commissioner Page said he was not aware of the merits of the alternatives but he didn't see why the commission was not capable of studying them.

"This is a point of issue with the commission," Page said. "Commissioner Main's school of Commissioner's Main's school of feelings."

"The commission is responsible to the people," Main said. "It's up to us."

BREEK AND Mayor Barium voted to send the report back to the plan board. The other commissioners all cast no votes.

The attitude of the commission is that all alternate plans are acceptable by the commission," Barium said.
