Jackson Girl Weds Birmingham Boy

Susan Wakefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wakefield of Jackson was married there Saturday to John M. Fairbairn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fairbairn of Birmingham.

The Rev. James Twomey performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass at the Queen of the Miraculous Medal Church. A reception followed at the Jackson Country Club. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an hour gown of Italian silk ottoman designed with a bell-shaped skirt and chapel-length train. Fastened to a petite pagoda crown of seed pearls, she wore a chapel-length veil of French silk illusion and carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and variegated lily. With her flowers she carried a handkerchief made in 1885 by Elizabeth Reynolds Barnard, her great-grandmother.

ELAINE LODDER of New York City was maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids were Jane Wakefield, sister of the bride; Nancy Estman of Cincinnati, O., and Mrs. James Wilkes of Grand Rapids. They all wore identical gowns of blue chiffon and carried baskets of yellow tulips with spring flowers. Ricci Madden served as best man for his brother-in-law. The ushers were Frank Brokamp of New York City; Robert Emde of Birmingham and Michael George of Flint.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening at the Jackson Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fairbairn. Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Donald Jenks, Mrs. William Zahn, Mrs. Phelps Smith, Mrs. W. B. Bush, Mrs. James Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Fird and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Madden. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in New York City.

Society Dept. deadline for all organizational news, weddings and engagements announcement is 5 p.m. on the Friday preceding Thursday publication.

MRS. J. M. FAIRBAIRN

Country Club Holds Brunch for Women

Mrs. Jesse P. Judd, ladies' social chairman of the Oakland Hills Country Club, and her assistant, Mrs. Jack J. Rinehart, planned a New Orleans brunch held Wednesday. The brunch climaxed the women's social activities until the fall season.

Gas-lights, ferns, palms and a fountain of flowing perfume decorated a New Orleans patio setting. Dining tables were covered with pink cloths, decorated with pink geraniums.

MEMBERS' WIVES Mrs. Eugene Bordin, Jr., Mrs. O. Norman Fry, Mrs. James E. Risher, Mrs. Fred Sheldon Jr., Mrs. Steven L. Goodale Jr. and Mrs. William Prew modeled summer fashions from Choudis, Birmingham. Mrs. Charles B. O'Neil was chairman of the day. Assisting her were Mesdames Fredrick Osann, Edward B. Thompson, Wayne Spade, Roland Newhart and John H. Fainer.
