Balloon Contest Sparks Interest in School Fair

"Buy a Balloon and Win a Bond" is the theme of a featured event at the first annual fair of Birmingham's Westchester Elementary School Saturday.

The purpose of the PTA-sponsored fair is to raise money for books in the new school's library and it appears that the balloon contest is going to play an important part in reaching this goal.

The fair officially opens at 11:00 a.m. and it is expected that thousands of parents and children from throughout the Birmingham area will enjoy the fun of the carnival atmosphere till it ends at 4:30 p.m.

COME RAIN or shine, the skies should be filled with colorful balloons released from the hands of many youngsters, hoping they will float high and far.

A $25 U. S. savings bond will be the first prize of the contest, and all awards will be determined by the distance the balloon travels. A postcard will be attached to each balloon with a request that the finder return it to the school's PTA officials so that distances can be calculated.

Contributing sponsors of the event are the Cooper Supply Co. and the Air Reduction Sales Co.

ACCORDING to Bruce Newton, PTA chairman of the fair, 20 different carnival-type events are scheduled all the way from pony rides to a shooting gallery.

Seaholm Students Inducted By National Honor Society

By KAREN PIEL
Special Writer

A number of Seaholm seniors and juniors were recognized for outstanding academic achievements as well as leadership, service and character during the annual National Honor Society induction ceremonies May 9. New members were chosen from the two classes by vote of the faculty and present membership in the society.

Tom Brooks, NHS president, opened the service with remarks as to the purpose of the organization and students' qualifications. Qualities required by those inducted were discussed by John McCullough, 10-a directorship; Kathy Thompson, service; Dave Sanders, scholarship; and John Slater, character. Dave Kennedy read the scroll of inductees.

Seniors include Dolores Alexander, Sue Allman, Janet Brookman, Lyla Clark, Denise Dunn, Cheryl Johnson, Vicki Kyrle, Pam Lidwaj and Marilyn Mitchell.

OTHERS ARE Meril Penn, Sara Stacey, Charles Sutherland, George Ward, Ed Weller, John Weston, Bob Williams and Scott Woodison.

Business Students Honor Employers At 'Bosses' Dinner

Co-op students of the Birmingham Business Club held their annual "Bosses' Dinner" recently at Seaholm High School.

Sixty-nine trainees attended the banquet in honor of Birmingham merchants participating in the cooperative business program. The club is advised by Mrs. Joan Marks, retailing instructor at Seaholm.

Janet Cummings served as toastmistress and Jim Holder copresented the invocation. Karen Davison and Mrs. Kathryn Loomis, president of the board of education, greeted the merchants in behalf of the trainees and board.

9th Graders Set For High School

By BETSY BLOSSER
Special Writer

Ninth graders at East Hills are getting ready for the move into Bloomfield Hills High School. One of the highlights for the girls is the 10th grade cheerleading try-outs.

They were held on May 8 and 9. Those girls from East Hills who will be on the 10th grade squad are Nancy Shannon, Linda Zimmich, Chris Linder, and Carol Hershberger. Congratulations, girls!

Quad Party At Cranbrook

By JESS BREWER
Special Writer

Last Saturday night heralded the last major Cranbrook social function before the commencement dates on the sixth and seventh of June.

The event was, of course, the annual Quad Party. Every year, Cranbrook and Kingswood students gather in the evening of such a spring night to enjoy a picnic dinner and casual conversation and dancing afterwards, and to begin to close in only a few weeks. This year was the same.

Last Sunday evening, the Fitzgeralds and the Booths invited the Cranbrook seniors to the traditional Founders Day Reception at Cranbrook House.

FOR SOME, the Quad Party will hold an unusual number of memories, for they will never see another at Cranbrook. These are the seniors.

As the days grow less, the graduating class begins to see that its relationship with Cranbrook — overwhelmingly an enjoyable one — is coming to an end.

And the work fades before the good times in their memories. They recall the happy times above the hand work for the first time, in many cases, and they begin to be sorry that they are leaving so soon.
