Susan Anita Bliss Married Saturday

Susan Anita Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith H. Bliss of Franklin Village, walked up the aisle of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham Saturday to become the bride of John William Plumb of Willowick, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Plumb of Libertyville, Ill.

The bride wore a gown of bouquet taffeta fashioned with a softly draped controlled skirt ending in a chapel train. A floral beaded spray at the side accented the simplicity of the gown. Her bouffant veil of French silk illusion was secured to a beaded pill box, and she carried white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

JANE MAKINLEY of Birmingham was maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Sheila Davis of Cincinnati; Anne Bauer and Mary Erwin, Stoughton of Bloomfield Hills, and Emily Minor of Birmingham. They all wore pale turquoise and carried white baskets of daisies and yellow roses.

Arnold David Plum of Chicago was best man, and seating the guests were James Shea of Cleveland; James Chapman of Detroit; Ralph Moore of Royal Oak and Christian Tessem of Elmwood Park, Ill.

Immediately following the 4:30 o'clock ceremony, a reception was given at the Birmingham Country Club. The couple will take a month's European trip in the fall, in the meantime making their home in Willowick.

FRANKLIN VILLAGE

School, Community Plan Special Day for Resident

By NITA HARD
MA 6-3224

There's a whirl of plans for Jim Bowden Day on June 9. The community and Franklin School will honor him for the 33 years he has spent as school custodian. His official retirement date is not yet definite. However, the people who know him have set aside a special day when alumni of the school, friends, neighbors and 400 students can honor him.

Local organizations are planning ways to pay tribute to Bowden who has lived in the village all his life. School Principal Marjorie Tate reports that the school children will have a Jim Bowden assembly on June 11.

Sharon Abbot, who will be married in June. Franklin children probably will come to know the future Mrs. Stoutamire as she will be their art teacher next fall.

WHILE MRS. Edward Green and Mrs. Robert Hampson are arranging details with the council, the PTA and other groups, Mrs. Norman Currin is ferreting out historic material to piece together a story in photos of the growth of the school in its three-plus decades. Guests of the June 9 tea will have an opportunity to see the pictures mounted on large portable screens in the school gym.

Residents or former students of the school having any old photos or clippings to add to the display may notify Mrs. Currin.

THE ACTIVITIES at the school are reaching major proportions during these final days of the semester.

The winners of the team field day held Tuesday will compete in the all-city septathlon on June 6 at Seaholm High. During the past few weeks, there have been field events on a grade and class basis with little brown jug trophies awarded to grade champs.

On June 10 the service and safety squads, mostly sixth graders, are holding a school holiday and heading for Hobbs.

RULAIN HACKER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hacker, flew home Saturday from her freshman studies at Stephens College, Mo.

With June 27 set as a wedding date for Pete Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Green of Woodlore, pre-nuptial parties are beginning to beckon the groom's mother to Mr. Pleasant, home of the bride-elect, Marilyn Martin. A miscellaneous shower was held for her this week-end.

THE DON ODLES will welcome the Cranbrook Institute of Science Staff Saturday. The occasion will honor botanist Warren Stoutamire and his fiancée.
