THE FRANKLIN VALLEY Association held its second annual Arts Festival on Sunday, June 2nd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kinghorn, 7205 Pebblecreek Road in the Valley. Entries included over 70 paintings as well as a large selection of sculpture, woodworking, ceramics and needlework. A panel of local judges awarded ribbons for the best in each category. There was also a children's and teenager's display. A new feature this year was the selection of a "Best of Show" award, made by popular vote of those attending the Festival. More than 200 neighbors and guests came to see the exhibit. Refreshments were served by the Franklin Valley Teen Club.

School Art Work To Be Exhibited During Festival

An exhibition of outstanding art drawn from the year's work in Birmingham and Bloomfield area schools will be presented in an exhibit tent in Shain Park daily during the Birmingham Arts Festival, June 16 through 23.

"The cooperation of the school art teachers has been enlisted in gathering a representative showing of the vital and interesting efforts being made with our youngsters," said Robert F. McLean, chairman of the 1963 Festival. Betty Conn, well-known area artist and teacher of children's art classes for the Bloomfield Art Association, has accepted the responsibility of selecting the works to be displayed.

"We're looking forward to a show of outstanding quality," she commented enthusiastically and noted that it would be displayed on colorful foam board panels.
