Happenings

ing Wednesday, hundreds of Birmingham people, both young and old, began counting the days until Monday when the swimming pool in Barnum school will be opened for free bathing. Definite assurance that the pool would open on schedule Monday was given at a meeting in the Community House of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan in committee sponsoring a movement to raise $750 to pay expenses of operating the pool for 10 weeks.

For the second time in three days the city commission has deferred action on the appointment of officials under the new city charter. A special meeting was held, at which the appointments were to have been one of the subjects of particular consideration, but Commissioner Clarence Ylitt was absent and Mayor Harry Allen said it would be impossible to reach a formal agreement without him.

Urged by citizens to settle the question immediately in order to prevent it from becoming an issue in the school district election next month the board of education came to an agreement on the salary it will pay Charles W. Crandall next year. Crandall will start the year at a salary of $5,750 providing teachers and other employees are paid the same wages they received at the beginning of the school year last September.

City Treasurer Russel T. Berger is one of the main cogs in the operation of the city of Birmingham. Indirect, he assists in the successful operation of both the school district and the county. For he is the local governmental official who this year will collect and disburse to the city, the school district, and the county, more than $1,200,000 in tax and non-tax revenue.

Members of the new executive board of the Birmingham Community Council selected Blair K. Swartz as president of the board at their first meeting. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Cleveland Walcutt.

Ross S. Campbell of Franklin Village and William Spence of Southfield Township were elected to four-year terms on the Birmingham Board of Education. Mrs. Peter B. Loomis was unsuccessful in her attempt to remain on the board.

Church Layreader Will Graduate at Theology School

A member of St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, Roy LeMoine, 1380 Maryland, graduated from the School of Theology of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan in Detroit Sunday.

LeMoine has been a layreader at St. James since 1951 and has devoted his time to St. Anne's Mission, Walled Lake and St. David's, Southfield, when it was a mission of St. James Church.

HE WAS instrumental in relocating St. Anne's from Oakley Park to Walled Lake. He was born in Denver and moved to Birmingham in 1938. He was absent and Mayor Harry Allen said it would be impossible to reach a formal agreement without him.

LeMoine has been studying at the diocese School of Theology for five years. The school prepares men over the age of 32 for the ministry and offers courses to women who are preparing to become deaconesses, directors of religious education, or better informed laymen. Classes are offered at night in Detroit, Flint and Jackson.

LeMoine has been preparing for the perpetual diaconate.
