Creative Thinkers Urgently Needed. Professor States

Business needs to develop more creative thinkers, an Indiana Uni- versity management professor said in a recent speech at Michigan State University. "Technology," said Dr. John F. Mee, "is now being created faster than it can be applied in business enterprise. "It is my hope that the business- man will be able to contribute as much good to society as doctors, lawyers, teachers, artists and scientists — and receive comparable recognition for his professional services."

Home of Kitchens

Rex Holton, owner and president of Royal Oak Kitchens Inc., demonstrates freezing features of a refrigerator. His company remodels and installs kitchens. Because of business expansion, Royal Oak Kitchens is newly located at 4518 N. Woodward. This is the third building occupied by the company which has been in the same neighborhood for nine years. Former location was 4230 N. Woodward.

3 to Receive U M Awards In Real Estate

Three area men will receive final certificates in real estate at the University of Michigan today. They are John C. Drake, 1815 Bowers, Birmingham; Eli Alexander, 4850 N. Harshale, Bloomfield Township; and Foger C. Martin, 2025 Rock Creek, Southfield.

The speaker at the recognition exercises will be Daniel E. Sheehan Sr., of St. Louis, 1963 president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Certificates will be presented by Dean Floyd A. Bond of the Graduate School of Business Administration, which offers the certificate program in real estate with the University Extension Service, in cooperation with the Michigan Real Estate Association.
