

Show 'Biz' Takes Over Club

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brewer of Birmingham dine before the annual Birmingham talent show, "Here We Go Again". Left to right it's Mrs. Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. William Szuch of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Martin of Royal Oak and Mr. Brewer. The show, directed by Mrs. Robin Rote, featured original comedy acts, dances and music by club members. The sixth annual renewal of the revue was attended by more than 300 members and their guests. From here on in, most activity at the club will be of an informal nature, with accent on swimming (for the young fry) and golf for the oldsters.

The Whiteheads Return From a Tour of Europe

By LOUISE N. KRAEMER
Special Writer

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitehead of Bedford Road have just returned from a trip through Europe. They combined business with pleasure, flying over and back. For five weeks they didn't stand still long enough to cast a shadow. They visited seven countries. They toured London and found Paris exciting, where they also took in the Folies and Club Lido besides all the other points of interest.

They visited Nice, Monte Carlo and Monaco. They found Rome interesting and were present when Pope John made his last appearance.

THEY VISITED Florence, Venice and Milan, enjoyed Lucerne and Zurich in Switzerland and toured Stuttgart, Heidelberg, Cologne, Frankfurt, Amsterdam and Brussels. Besides the usual points of interest, they took a boat trip on the Rhine, saw Venetian glass made and visited the Shakespearean country.

On returning to this country they stopped in Boston for five days to attend the Bankers Convention. They brought back and mailed many souvenirs and pictures with which they will relive their trip.

YOUNG MARK KOBELAN and Dave DePotter have opened a day camp on Lauderdale for youngsters between the ages of four and six. The hours are 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

They make many clever items, such as paper weights, pencil holders and other things for their mothers, have candy hunts and a mid-morning treat of fruit punch and cookies.

On Fridays each mother packs a picnic lunch and the children are taken to Webster Park for a day on the swings, slides and similar activities attractive to that age.

MR. AND MRS. Frank A. Risak of Lecmore Drive had a busy season starting with a visit with Mrs. Risak's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pollock, from San Diego, Calif.

They visited Cranbrook Gardens, toured the assembly plant at Pontiac, the cereal factory at Battle Creek and attended a dinner dance of the American Welding Association.

They entertained at a dinner for twenty-two following the First Communion of Mary Ann Risak and attended the graduation exercises of Paul Risak from Our Lady Queen of Martyrs grade school.

A HAWAIIAN LUAU farewell party was given by friends and neighbors in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moffett on East Rutland who are being transferred to Louisville, Kentucky.

Hostesses who planned the party were Mrs. Glenn Redman, Mrs. Charles Buchan, Mrs. Peter

Klinterworths Honor Son and Fiancee

By MARTY CAHN

Robert E. Klinterworth Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Klinterworth of Bloomfield Hills, and fiancee Carol Spengler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spengler, of South Bend, Ind. (former Birmingham residents), were honored at an 11 a.m. Sunday buffet brunch given at the Keswick Road home of Bob's parents.

Sally Klinterworth used the age-old system of keeping fingers crossed to insure suitable weather for the terrace-patio affair. Eighty guests arrived to honor Bob and Carol.

Among them were Doug Danziger, Bob's best man, Bob Barrett, Bob Smart and Bob McCarthys, ushers and all Psi Upsilon fraternity brothers from Michigan State.

Mr. and Mrs. Spengler came from South Bend, Chris Klinterworth, home from the University of Colorado, was the only bridesmaid present.

Carol and Bob are to be married on Sept. 7.

The Sunday afternoon outdoor dinner party at the Tibury Road home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Prew was a duo birthday celebration.

Mrs. Ernest J. Prew, Bill Prew's mother, and Mrs. Effie Lashbrook, grandmother, were honored guests.

Mrs. Lashbrook, who was 98 years old, is well-known as an avid bridge player. She is one of the regulars at the Detroit Yacht Club card tables.

Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren made up the 20 guests, among whom were Mrs. Ralph Getzinger, daughter of Mrs. Lashbrook's, and Mr. Getzinger of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davis of Birmingham entertained at a Sunday afternoon cocktail and buffet supper party in honor of the graduation of son Howie from Michigan State University.

Sunday weather was perfect for the lawn party. Tables were placed around the patio dance floor, a three-piece combo provided music.

A buffet table featured a cake with the scroll "Congratulations Howie."

Among the hundred guests were former Seaborn classmates of Howie's including Preston Smith, Randy Eaton, Bob Dajnowicz, Fred Gunther and Freddie Sheldon (on leave from the Marine Corps, N. C.), and their dates.

Present were young-married Peg and John Appleford, Bruce and Dottie McDonald, Gaye and Pete Jackson, Mary and Jim McGuire.

Other married couples were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pasetti, Mr. and Mrs. Judge W. Bearden, Mr. and Mrs. Alton J. Hole, Mr. and Mrs.

Fred E. Sheldon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William H. Nash.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. L. Ralph Mason (daughter Lynn, airline stewardess out of Los Angeles, was also present), Mr. and Mrs. E. Herb Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pich, all of Birmingham and Bloomfield.

Afterward, Howie speculated as to what kind of celebration a master's degree would earn; however, his immediate plans are to enlist in the United States Air National Guard.

Another Davis, Nancy, also had a party.

"Brides of a Feather" could possibly describe Betsy McMullen, Carlo Jolly, Ginnie Sullivan, Janice Savage, Jenny Stark, Coleen Kelly, Mary Spinning, Lois Cunningham, Pat Scott, Wendy Mitchell, Sue Whitbeck, Sue Hunsbaker and Kay Broderick.

The girls are all Derby Junior High School classmates of party hostess Nancy Davis, who entertained them at a farewell summer party in honor of Letty Fitz, a classmate who is moving to Milwaukee, Wis.

"Goose Feathers," thousands of scattered ones from broken pillows, flew during the group's friendly pillow fight.

The party began with grilled hamburgers, continued with a jam session of music and dancing, and concluded with a do-it-yourself breakfast, while brushing away downy fluff.

Bride-elect Hoge Hymans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Hymans of Bloomfield Village, was guest of honor at a luncheon on Saturday at the Oakland Hills Country Club.

Hoge's grandmother, Mrs. Stewart Hanley (she is an honorary member of O.H.C.C.), and Mrs. Hanley's daughter, Helen H. Hanley (aunt and god-mother of the honoree) were co-hostesses and presented the bride-to-be with a bracelet St. Christopher medal.

Guests present were Mrs. Paul A. Hymans, Mrs. Vincent Van Fleet, Mrs. Charles Stewart, Mrs. Arthur DeRosier, Mrs. John Blakey, Mrs. Frank Equis and daughter Mary Lee.

Others include Mrs. Road Jenkins, Mrs. Fred E. Sheldon Jr., Mrs. Leon Briggs, Mrs. Frank Rennell, Mrs. Frank Lynch and Miss Katharine Ehrenberger.

Miss Hymans will become the bride of Lt. Frank Dempsey of Chicago on Saturday at Holy Name Church.

The couple will live in Stuttgart, Germany, where Lt. Dempsey is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Candlelight Rites for Wedding

Marian Louise Taup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Taup of Bloomfield Hills, and Wendell Alan Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alrich H. Robertson of Jackson, exchanged nuptial vows June 29 at Franklin Community Church in a single-ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of imported silk linen styled with a controlled semi-sheath skirt and a bateau neckline. Venise lace bands accentuated the skirt and diamond cut court train. A Dior bow of matching silk linen held a bouffant veil of French silk illusion. She carried phalaenopsis orchids and ivy.

THE MAID of honor was Diana Stokes of Birmingham. Bridesmaids were Jan Titman of Royal Oak, Mrs. Durwood Allen of Birmingham and Christine Collins as junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore azure blue and carried white daisies and ivy. The junior bridesmaid was attired in white linen fashioned after the bride's dress.

William Potter assisted the groom as best man. Arthur Smith of Cincinnati, Ohio, James Taup of Bloomfield Hills, Robert McLandress of Pleasant Ridge, Terry Boyce of Spaulding and Ed Penn of Jackson seated the guests.

A reception at the Village Woman's Club followed the ceremony.

Twins Born

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson of Bay City, formerly of Birmingham, are the parents of twins—Kimberly Ann and Timothy Dale—Mrs. Johnson is the former Janet MacFarlan.

Grandparents are Mrs. Alex McVean, 1212 Webster, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson of Standish, Mich.
