

Short Move Rates Party

Even though the Duncan Augustines of 170 Clifton Road were moving just a mile-and-a-half away to Wing Lake, neighborhood friends gave them a farewell party.

The Robert Freemans, their next-door neighbors at 170 Clifton Road, gave a cocktail party in their honor inviting a dozen couples from Clifton, Chewton Cross and Chewton Roads.

Also present — small world that it is — were the Henry Wolperts of Old Mill Road who were the next-door neighbors of the Augustines in Princeton, N. J., where both families lived before moving to Michigan.

Patio Cooler Gets Husbands Into the Act

NORTH ADAMS

Gardening Becomes Favorite Pastime

By ELIZABETH YATES
Special Writer

A group of enthusiastic area dirt gardeners began meeting occasionally two years ago to experiment with seeds, cuttings, exchange plants and ideas and to propagate plants in each others' gardens.

"They found the hobby intriguing as in each garden they learned about a new plant or flower."

Soon the group, now known as "The Diggers," began meeting every second Wednesday at one of the 12 neighborhood homes. Each test a sandwich and a plant, slip or seedling, to the hostess of the day.

"The Diggers" have also supplied plants and cut flowers for the Postale State Hospital and its greenhouses.

Last week the group decorated the Troy High School gym with flowers for the Troy Art Festival.

AT THE LAST meeting, held at the Rochester home, Mrs. Howard Rummel, each member tested soil brought from their own garden with a kit supplied by the hostess.

The next meeting is slated for the Everett Hysmith home on July 10.

When Jack Frost steps in this fall the group will move inside for china painting and ceramics.

Among the diggers are Mrs. Nat Reiss, Mrs. E. A. Linder, Mrs. Lew Kreglow, Mrs. Russell Kaufman, Mrs. William Bollinger, Mrs. Horace Henton, Mrs. Edward Tappert, Mrs. Al Mader, Mrs. Everett Hysmith of the North Adams area.

Others are Mrs. Henry Moore, Mrs. Loyal Nancarrow, Mrs. Howard Rummel, Mrs. Avery Maulders of Rochester, Mrs. Oliver Faulds of Troy.

THE CONFORS Green Garden Club held their final meeting of the season at the Lamplighter Drive home of Mrs. John Stencil last Monday evening.

Co-hosting were Mrs. Hazell Stieg and Mrs. Peter Marury of Lamplighter Drive.

This was the annual meeting and officers were elected for the coming year.
