

'Mr. Deliberate' Wins a Championship

Alison Cram Top BOH Rider

It would be a difficult task to pick out any single highlight of the six-day Detroit Horse Show that ended Sunday night at Bloomfield Open Hunt. There were just too many . . . as can be attested to by the capacity crowds that jammed the BOH grounds each day and night of the largest outdoor show of its kind in the United States.

Of the local horses and riders, residents have considerable pride in the performances of Mr. Deliberate, owned by Mrs. E. E. Fisher and Mrs. Robert Egan, and Alison Cram, 16-year-old daughter of the Stewart Crams, 1580 Oxford, Birmingham.

Ridden by Bob Egan, Mr. Deliberate swept to the regular conformation hunter championship and won the Charles E. Hayes Memorial Trophy. The horse won three firsts and a fourth in the six classes of the hunter competition.

MISS CRAM, national junior reserve champion last year, paced all riders in the junior division by capturing five blue ribbons—two in dressage, handy working hunter, the Michigan Hunts' perpetual junior challenge trophy, and equitation (not to jump).

She also had second and fourth place finished in dressage and was third in the A.S.P.C.A. event.

One of the show's closest competitions saw Alison score close victories over Robert M. Lambert, Jr., for the BOH junior equitation high score trophy and the Oakland University Combined Events trophy.

In the equitation class, it took a 25-minute ride-off to determine that Alison was the winner. Both the champion and reserve champion had 10 points before the ride-off.

Pam edged Chris Black of Toledo by 11 points to earn the equitation championship for age 13 and under. Pam, 11, also was second in equitation (not to jump), third in A.H.S.A. and fifth in the A.S.P.C.A. event. Robert M. Lambert, Jr., (below), 100 Denbar, Bloomfield Hills, earned reserve champion honors in the junior equitation division, 18 and under. Lambert, 15, was second in A.S.P.C.A. class on his horse, Dragnet, and also won second and fifth places in dressage. The horse show, which ran for six days at the BOH, ended Sunday night.

The passing on of a friend or relative so often leaves thoughts of sadness. One seeks to speak words of sympathy and comfort to the bereaved survivors. This manner of action, of course, is the traditional pattern and quite in keeping with the situation. But why, not speak more of the departed one's positive attributes? Did not life offer him the challenge to do kindly things . . . and does not his (or her) doing of them warrant mentioning?

SHOOTS 240 FOR 54 HOLES

'Tiger' LeClair Wins at Knollwood

Mrs. Keith LeClair picked one of the hottest days of the year (96 degrees) to win her fourth Women's District Medal championship at Knollwood Country Club last Thursday.

Mrs. LeClair of Ann Arbor's Barton Hills shot an 81 on the final round of the 54-hole tournament for a total of 240. Runnerup was Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Birmingham who plays out of Essex (Ont.) Country Club, and who tied with Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lechmoor at 241, then won 1-up in a three-hole playoff.

THE CHAMPION took a seven on the 420-yard 18th hole. She mentioned to the gallery that she had shot two other sevens and a six during the final round.

"How did you manage to shoot an 81?" someone asked.

"I was a tiger on the rest of the course," quipped Mrs. LeClair.

After an 82 on the first round, Mrs. LeClair came back with a 77 on Wednesday to tie the Dorothy Thompson and Mrs. Gamble at 159. The winner posted victories in the same event in 1955-56-57. Mrs. Hume was last year's defending champion.

SALLY SHARP Werner, 1961 champion, from Forest Lake finished fourth at 242 and won the first net honors in the championship class.

Mrs. Arthur Rosenberg of Knollwood had the third low net score of 250.

In firing her 77 during the second round, Mrs. LeClair had four birdies — on the 5th, 12th, 13th and 15th holes — plus eight one-pat greens. The birdie on No. 13 came on a chip shot from 90 feet.

Cardinals Eye Perfect Little League Season

It looks like the Cardinals are well on their way to an undefeated season in the National majors of Birmingham Little League.

The team extended its win streak to 12 straight last week in defeating the Giants, 7-2. Second place is going to be close with the Giants (7-5), only one game out in front of the Pirates (6-6) and two ahead of the Dodgers (5-7). The Giants and Pirates will clash Tuesday.

In the Federal League, Chris Marker of the Athletics blasted a two-run homer but the Orioles downed his team, 6-4.

THE FIRST of two surprises came on Thursday night when the Mud Hens (2-3) beat the high-flying Seals (2-2) by a 9-5 score. The big blast came in the bottom of the sixth on a pinch double by Doug Hagerman, who drove in the tying and winning runs to give the Mud Hens their third win of the season.

The second surprise followed on Friday night when the cellar-dwelling White Sox (1-4) knocked the top-running Orioles (3-2) for a loop, 11-8.

Joe Young of the Sox hit a bases-loaded homer to put his team into a lead they never relinquished. Kenny Bratton of the Orioles also clouted a grand slam home run, but it wasn't enough to save the game.

THE TIGERS of the American majors won two more last week (See CARDINALS, 5-D)

He Lives in Two Different Worlds

By DAVE PHILPO
Sports Editor

Much of the time Orion Schultz lives in a different world than we do.

His is not a world of make-believe, but a tangible one inhabited by fishes, microscopic bits of fauna and an infinite variety of plant life.

He is a skin diver. In his own words, Schultz describes this relatively unexplored world as "a place where one can escape from the hectic pace set up here" and "supported by water, fly along between the surface and the bottom."

HIS PROFICIENCY as an underwater interloper was demonstrated recently when he won for the third time in a row the Michigan Skin Diving Council's annual underwater competition at Higgins Lake near Roscommon.

Schultz bested some 160 other skin divers from the state in the three-part competition.

There was underwater navigation the had to find his way over a 300-yard course with three readings on his underwater compass; the timed "morkel sprint" (retrieving an object from 12 feet of water; and the dexterity event (this involved assembling a wooden box under water with nuts and bolts).

WHAT IS his secret for success as a champion skin diver?

"By keeping in condition and working on my weak points. I practice six weeks prior to the competition at the Birmingham high school pool and at Union Lake."

Schultz teaches diving at Union Lake during the summer.

"Skin diving usually appeals to teenagers, but lately several men have enrolled in my classes. I also have some women students—but not very many."

What is appealing about skin diving as a sport?

"WELL, IT'S a sport that can be geared to anyone. In other words, you can set your own pace. It also gives you a chance to explore a realm that others either can't or don't."

Is skin diving dangerous and is it hard to master?

"The danger lies in the fact that maybe it's too easy to master. The equipment is so well made that novices sometimes don't take the time to learn the physiological hazards involved."

Have you ever been in trouble while under water?

"No. Not really. I always practice the safety precautions that I teach my students and it keeps me out of trouble."

SCHULTZ proficiency as a diver is not limited to the state level. In 1961 he was runner-up for the title of Outstanding Scuba Diver in the United States.

He won a plaque in the competition staged in New Orleans and dove in the Gulf of Mexico and the city's Lake Ponchartraine. He won the brains, brawn and dexterity contest and was runner-up in the navigation exercise.

This will be his 12th summer as a diver. His interest was aroused, when as a youngster, he read about the exploits of frogmen during World War II.

SCHULTZ, now 35, is a physical education instructor for the Birmingham school system. He, his wife, Pat and their three children, Pamela, 13; Brian, 12; and Gary, 9; live at 570 Bird, Birmingham.

He is instructional chairman for the Michigan Skin Diving Council and belongs to Treasure Unlimited, a club that meets in northwest Detroit.
