

Oakland Hills CC Plans Hootenanny

"Hootenanny at the old plantation" is the theme—the wide colonial veranda and expansive green lawn of Oakland Hills Country Club is the setting. The event is the annual outdoor festa of the club, an informal dinner-dance on Saturday evening.

Under-the-stars dining, dancing, and entertainment will be the order of the evening, and a plantation atmosphere will prevail.

An outdoor barbecue will grill southern dishes. Dancing will take place on the grand veranda, as will the popular folk-singer entertainment.

EDDIE SANTINI and the "Barons of Dixie" will furnish music in Yankee style and Dixie style from 9:30 'til 1:30.

"The Brothers Two" and "The Coffin Brothers" are to entertain during the cocktail hour and dance intermissions.

A special added attraction will be the appearance of the popular folk-singers and recording artists "The Toppersiders," who will entertain from 8:00 to 9:00 and take part in the 11:00 o'clock floor show, over which Max Gail will be the master of ceremonies.

Dave and Elaine Diltz, party chairman, assisted by Larry and Bernie Carino, Bob and Bette Stubbs and Ken and Eleanor North, promise a delectable southern dinner to be served in a colorful plantation atmosphere.

EGG MYSTERY
Ornithologists still cannot say with certainty why some birds lay colored eggs, some white, and some speckled. As a general rule, however, eggs laid out of sight in cavities or holes are white, while eggs laid on the open ground are usually protectively colored, to blend with the colors of the earth. And when a good stout nest is built, the eggs are often handsomely colored, such as the blue of the robin and other members of the thrush family. But why, blue, specifically, nobody knows.
