

FRANKLIN VILLAGE

Expedition in Turkey Lures the Don Hunters

NITA HARD
MA 6-3224

People who have unlimited horizons are Mr. and Mrs. Don Hunter of Carol Road.

After many years of active community service locally and in the metropolitan area, they have rented their home and will be citizens of the broader world.

Pending Hunter's retirement in November, he will be living in the East, where his office has been moved.

Mrs. Hunter leaves today for New York to set sail July 31 for Cherbourg, France. In Copenhagen, she will join Dr. and Mrs. Robert Braidwood, well known in archeological circles, to accompany them on an archeological expedition in Turkey.

So, by the time things at the "dig" are beginning to really move along, Hunter will be free to join them.

ONE OF THE fringe benefits of belonging to St. Dunstan Players is the annual splash party held at the George Wellington Smith's pool on Romany Way.

Members will be totting food baskets, bathing togs and badminton rackets for the Friday night revelry on the grounds that overlook the village.

While many of us are content to get our sailing-kicks in any old tub and generally start with cat-boats, Lowell Lowce, 10-year-old-son of Dr. and Mrs. George Lowce of 13 Mile started out BIG.

Speaks Vows

Christina Gordon Minkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus G. Minkler of Pleasant Ridge, spoke her marriage vows July 20 to Edward B. Goodrich, son of William C. Goodrich of Royal Oak and the late Mrs. Goodrich. Following a trip through Canada, the couple will be at home in South Lyon.

FOR HIS initial voyage Lowell was invited to join the crew of the 52-foot-yawl, the Merry Maiden, owned by Wilfred McGuire of Wood Creek Farms—and the Mackinac rap, blowing a slow finish at press time.

McGuire can be quite sure the Merry Maiden's traditional attempts at the Class A title will be perpetuated long after he's lost interest.

Father of five sons, he has found his counter-part in son Jim, who has taken to the sport of kings ever since he could hitch the halcyard.

CARRYING ON all the traditions of gracious living are Colby Berrard, Pinky Zessow and Sandy Kahn.

The teen-trio, all expert horsewomen conceived, constructed and conducted their own horse show Sunday afternoon with 15 entries competing.

Calling it the Crestwood Horse show, after the spacious grounds of the William Kahn home on 14 Mile Road where the event was held, the girls had their own course, built the jumps, fashioned the ribbons and sent out invitations for the 1 p.m. show.

GUESTS WERE delighted to find the rules officially posted on the trees and horses tethered in nearby shade.

Securing judges was about the hardest things, since available fathers could not be considered objective enough.

Mrs. Lydia Rothman was finally prevailed upon to make the decisions.

Tom Burdick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burdick of German Mill is home after 13 months in Korea with the Armed Services. He has a 30-day leave before reassignment.

AIR FORCE Cadet Rob Rotter is also home on leave and will vacation with his family for the next few weeks.

Wood Creek Farms residents are looking skyward for the proper setting of their annual picnic Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cochran of Wellington will be hosts.

Have You Met...

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Hays who moved here in June from St. Louis, Mo., and are at home at 5119 Blanford Road, Bloomfield Hills? Mr. Hays, a creative supervisor for Maritz, Inc., supplier of sales incentive services, is a graduate of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn. Mrs. Hays is a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis and is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. They have one son, two-year-old William.
