MARCH HARE NOT A RABBIT

A hare is not the same as a rabbit, crossword puzzle definitions notwithstanding. The newborn young of rabbits are naked and blind and cared for in a nest, usually in an underground burrow, whereas baby hares are furry at birth, can take care of themselves almost immediately and never go underground.

It's no disgrace, however to get the two mixed up for the term rabbit and hare are often misused.

Our North American jack rabbits and snowshoe rabbits are members of the hare family, while the animal called the "Belgian hare" is actually a breed of European rabbit.

The Jewell Family Moves to Bolivia

By ELEANOR NELSEN MI 7-9056

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jewell of Hillboro feel a void in their lives because their son, Dr. Patrick Jewell, his wife and their children, Michael, Elizabeth and Kimberly, left on July 3 to spend a year in La Paz, Bolivia, where Dr. Jewell will be doing surgery at the Pfeiffer Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Jewell is serving with the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jewell and the children spent most of June in the Birmingham area with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Heid, before the move to Bolivia.

WHILE HEADED for South America, the family planned to stop in Fla. to see Dr. Jewell's grandfather, then they would proceed through the Panama Canal Zone.

The senior Jewell's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kraft, new residents of Birmingham, presented them with a grandson, Scott, born on July 2. It is the Kraft's first child.

To further their activities, the senior Jewells arrived home last Thursday after spending a week in the Upper Peninsula.

"CAN YOU canoe?" was the question asked when Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer of Middlebury arrived at the cabin which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Popelier of Bloomfield Hills have near Grayling.

The Palmers brought their children, Joanne, Ton, Pat and a Pam with them so it was quite a group that took off for a 29-mile trip down the Au Sable River. This waterway trip took place on the Fourth of July weekend. The adults also found time to do some golfing.

IT HAS been about 20 years since Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wilhelm of Wintham Lane visited their native N. Dak. home, but on July 1 they left for the West with their children, Jeffery, Teresa, Debra and Kevin, to see relatives still living there.

Most of their time was spent on farms and the Wilhelm youngsters were more than fascinated by farm life and rural living in some areas.

Langdon, N. Dak., was a special destination. It was a spot at which a family reunion picnic was held for about 60 people.

The Wilhelm's returned home on July 9.

MR. AND MRS. William Mikulas of Woodlark Drive with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Betz of Eton Road flew to Nassau recently for a 10-day stay.

Making the Nawau Beach Hotel their headquarters, they dived around the area and viewed the Blackbeard Tower, said to be a former pirate meeting place, and saw a fort constructed of stone dug out of a mountain side and dedicated to the 75-year reign of Queen Victoria.

THE "FUN" side of the trip was made up of attending boat races, sailing, partaking in beach parties and learning to dance the calypso.

The Keith Blake family of Jackson Park Drive and the James Massey family of Detroit decided to plan their vacation together and had adjoining cottages at Green Bush on Lake Huron.

With the two families it made a total of 15 people and the word is that they had a marvelous time the week of the 6th through the 15th of July.

THE BLAKE children, Keith, Barbara, Gregory, Judy, Diane and young Barry, would like to go again.

On July 4 the Hans Scheiwe of W. Maple Road invited 12 couples to cocktails and dinner and to visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Baird of Columbus, Ohio, who were guests at the Scheiwe home at the time.

The Charles LeBeau home on S. Cranbrook Cross Road was the scene of a farewell party on July 19.

DEAN CHARLES Brink of Wayne University was the guest of honor.

After spending 12 years at Wayne in social service work, Dean Brink has now accepted a position at the University of Washington.

Forty-five full and part-time professors and teachers came to the LeBeau home for cocktails, a buffet dinner and the dean's company.

THEY PRESENTED him with three books on the Pacific Northwest.

The Brink family will be leaving shortly to drive west at a leisurely pace, enjoying the scenery and camping on the way.

All four Brink children are seasoned campers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jaeggi of S. Williamsbury split the directions of their vacation by spending one week at a cabin on Mullet Lake with their two sons, Mike and Pat.

WHILE up north they took side trips to the Soo Locks and Mackinaw Island, enjoying the historic landmarks.

The second week found them driving to Chicago, where they visited Jaeggi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jaeggi, for two days and then went to St. Louis, where they stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wendells for three days.

St. Louis being one of the cities in which the Jaeggis have lived, they renewed friendships with former neighbors when the Wendells gave a surprise party and invited six couples in their area.
