Susan Hallas is Bride As Well as Bridesmaid

By ELIZABETH VAN LOAN MI 7-2324

That old cliché, "Always a bridesmaid, never a bride" winks away when applied to Susan Hallas of Interlaken Road. On June 14 the titian-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hallas was a bridesmaid for Catherine Harger at her marriage to James Lipke. Eight days later in Greenwich, Conn., Susan was a bridesmaid for the second time when Barbara Brooks, her Wellesley roommate, became Mrs. John Stephan. Now her parents have announced her engagement to James Lewis Astell, and Susan will become a bride in early autumn.

The lace, frosted in pearls and crystals, traced a floral pattern over the bodice which was designed with petal-scalloped décolletage, brief, shoulder-covering sleeves and tiny buttons down the back.

BENEATH THE narrow pointed basque waistline, the skirt, accented by Alencon flowers, belled in contours and fullness and swept into a court train. Vandiver was matron of honor, and bridesmaids included Mrs. James B. Johnson, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. James L. Durner and Glorienne Mulligan. E. B. Vandiver was best man, and seating the guests were E. B. Vandiver, James L. Durner, Lawrence R. Terman and Dr. C. E. Hodgkinson II, best man of the bride. C., where they were joined by a group of 20 Explorers from all over the United States and began their fabulous life aboard a destroyer in the waters of the South Atlantic. The destroyer was one of three on a "Flotilla" escorting an atomic submarine in the Atlantic. The "Flotilla" run was a great honor, as it is usually a VIP treatment for congressman and others in key positions in the United States.
