Judy Wangberg of Birmingham has won her wings and is now a stewardess with Delta Air Lines.

Based in Houston, she completed the four-week training course at Delta's Stewardess School at the Atlanta Airport and is now wearing the light blue uniform and cap of the airline.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wangberg, 1828 Henriette, she attended Central Michigan University.

Federal Program Used In Troy

AMT Corp., 1225 E. Maple, Troy, has become the first firm in the Detroit area to participate in the Federal program to get the unemployed back to work.

The Federal program combines on-the-job training for unskilled workers and a retraining program for skilled workers partially financed by Federal funds.

It is pointed toward small concerns with a need for skilled workers that today's labor market can't meet.

AMT, a firm manufacturing kits for scale model plastic cars, fits into this category.

IT IS A GROWING firm that hasn't been able to find the skilled workers it needs. The new Federal program allows the firm to use its skilled employes who want to learn a new skill and unskilled employes who want to learn a skill. They will have 48 weeks of on-the-job training.

In addition to this, the firm will hire a few unskilled workers from the state's unemployed. AMT is already hiring 15 unskilled workers for the new program.

Trainees will be paid a regular wage during the 48-week program. A Labor Department official said that workers will get more than if they were receiving unemployment compensation, besides learning a skill.
