The Sport Suit

A happy blending of jacket and trousers by
Hart Schaffner & Marx

Up close, the HS&M Sport Suit seems like a sport coat with slacks to match. From a few feet away it looks like a subdued suit. Coat and slacks fabric is the very same. With a neat pattern added to the coat. Result: a well-dressed look, a relaxed feeling.

The HS&M Sport Suit feels casual. The tailoring isn't. Its quality lasts. For good.

informed Tuesday night by Harry S. Starr, city assessor.

Appointment of an NRA Compliance Board to rule on complaints involving infractions of the President's re-employment agreement, and with power to recommend removal of the Blue Eagle in cases of persistent non-compliance, was announced late yesterday by J. Don Jordan, general chairman of the Birmingham NRA committee.

What is planned to be one of the largest Boy Scout affairs ever held in Birmingham is scheduled in a "Boy Scout Appreciation Night" program to be given at the Community House Sept. 29. Preliminary arrangements for the affair were made at a meeting of the Boy Scout District Committee Tuesday night. All local scouts will attend in uniform and as troop members.

15 YEARS AGO
Sept. 9, 1948

An open competitive examination to fill the position of postmaster of Birmingham has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Applications must be filed by September 28. The examination results from the retirement last month of Joseph A. Byrne, postmaster here for the past 15 years. Bernard E. Fowler was named by the Postmaster General as acting city postmaster.

Mary Shelly Ingalls, a veteran of American Red Cross overseas recreation work, and the sister of Mrs. Russell Barnes, 788 Randall Court, Birmingham, took over the position as recreation director of the Community House Tuesday, Sept. 7. She replaces Amy Wild, also a former Red Cross recreation worker, who resigned in July in order to join members of her family in Rome, Italy.

Last Saturday morning, when Birmingham police were completing details for the arraignment (on a disorderly charge) of the caretaker of about 15 donkeys used in "donkey baseball," police had to park the animals in the Merrill street courtyard until other arrangements for their care could be made. One passerby stopped in at the police station with the inquiry, "Are the local police making plans for a mounted division?" The stranger left in a hurry.

Porcupines Are Problems At Cottages

Cottage owners troubled by porcupine damage may find the cure to their problems by using copper naphthenate on their buildings as a repellent. The Conservation Department advised.

This substance, also widely used as a wood preservative, can be applied with a brush or spray gun. The recommended concentration, which will give wood a greenish color, is one pound of copper naphthenate to one and one-half quarts of mineral spirits.

To minimize this coloring effect, owners may wish to try a weaker but effective concentration, mixing one pound of copper naphthenate with two and one-half gallons of mineral spirits.

Pentachlorophenol—"Penta"—is also a good wood preservative and porcupine repellent when used as directed by its manufacturer. One word of caution, both of these substances are harmful to trees and shrubs.

The department's suggestions are prompted by a growing number of porcupine damage complaints raised by cottage owners in Leelanau county along Lake Michigan.

THE ANIMALS have taken a particular liking to cabins with plywood siding, apparently because of glue contained in the wood, reported conservation officer Gerald Battle of Suttons Bay.

Also notorious for their "salt tooth," porcupines are known to gnaw anything with an iota of briny flavor. One owner in Leelanau county sheathed the bottom of his cottage dressed to their respective last known addresses as shown by the files and records in this cause.

And it is further ordered that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the BIRMINGHAM ECENTRIC a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.
