Torch-Wearing UF Corps Recruits Volunteer Aides

Wearing headpieces of royal blue topped with bright red United Foundation torches, Birmingham area women are temporary recruiting officers this week at the Torch Drive Panorama.

Their perky headpieces were designed especially for Mrs. John L. Sterling, 871 Glenhurst, and other recruiters serving at the giant tent exhibition at Northland Center through Saturday. The torch-bearing chapeau means that its wearer is an official UF hostess, on duty to enlist willing Torch Drive aides who step forward to the UF counter at the Panorama.

FOR NINE days of the exhibition, two or more hostesses are on duty. Not only are they signing up volunteers for the Torch Drive opening Oct. 15, but also they answer questions about the hundreds of services made possible by contributions to the annual drive.

THIRTY-FIVE community health and service agencies are presenting the Panorama to show Torch Drive contributors what their gifts make possible. Among the special presentations are Red Cross demonstrations of mouth-to-mouth respiration and performances by International Institute and Catholic Youth Organization choral groups.
 Other Birmingham area women serving at the Panorama are Mrs. Charles H. Shook, Mrs. James H. Weeks, Mrs. John J. Conlon, Mrs. William E. Chickering, Mrs. John Mulford, Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. Kay Steding, Mrs. Thomas C. VanDegriff, Jr., and Mrs. William L. Shalberg.
 Others are Mrs. Richard Halstead, Mrs. Peter S. Hoffman, Mrs. Leon J. Hart, Mrs. William J. Albright, Mrs. Warren Cooksey, Mrs. S. L. A. Marshall and Mrs. Leonard T. Lewis.
