

Columnist Describes Trip To Berlin, East Berlin

BERLIN, GERMANY—At this time your reporter feels like a busy bee fitting from flower to flower, gathering "goodies" to share with others.

enclosed by wire. The site was overrun by rabbits nibbling on the grass. (And I hear the whole area is becoming overrun with rabbits.)

THE STREETS vibrate with activity, and up until at least midnight there is a large group of promenaders which is comparable to the group in Times Square during the holidays.

WE DECIDED to have immediately for the conducted trip to East Germany.

UPON RETURNING from the heart-breaking area I stopped at the rebuilt Lutheran Kaiser-Wilhelm Church on Kurfurstendamm.

YOUR NEXT question could be: When 75 per cent of the industrial area has been destroyed how can they fearlessly rebuild only blocks from the stone and barbed wire "Wall of Shame" with the uncertainty of the future?

IT took one hour to have everything checked and all money counted—plus the necessary instructions for behavior. (Believe me, nobody wanted to deviate from accepted behavior.)

BACK TO WEST Berlin and the town of the Lord Mayor Willie Brandt.

MOST families know that a portion of the kin are close by with meager food and imprisoned. What is their psychology of living?

WE drove through a barbed wire and stone exit barely able to accommodate a bus.

HERE YOU are with me on the Kurfurstendamm, the main street in West Berlin, the humming city which today is the third largest city in area in the world.

TOMORROW I go to the world-famous Berlin Botanical Garden.

THE PEOPLE looked very grim. Even in the parks the flowers, grass and shrubs looked as though they lacked hope.

Today we Americans in Berlin are greeted with an affection surpassing our reception any place on the Continent.

IT IS THIS inquisitive drive for knowledge which the farm women seek to talk about peace, Africa, etc. Our National Farm and Garden Association is an important adjunct of this worldwide organization.

WE SAW the square where all the buses were burned.

We weren't allowed to take pictures where a soldier committed suicide. The large bunker was there.

"Ofen a woman will walk five or six hours to come to our meeting. We want to talk about peace, how we can understand our growing children. We want better schools and instruction for ourselves in homemaking."

WE were allowed to take pictures where a soldier committed suicide. The large bunker was there.

The buildings are postwar. The sidewalk is lined with outdoor cafes. The wide sidewalks have artistically designed showcases.

ERWIN Rake, president, of 2369 Edgewood, Birmingham, invited men interested in joining to attend. The program for each meeting includes "flash table topic" one-minute speeches, a few six-minute speeches and criticism.

THE PEO Sisterhood's three important projects. Cottey College in Nevada, Mo., a college for girls, is maintained completely by PEO chapters internationally, and has a top scholarly rating in the nation.

THE BIRMINGHAM Toastmasters Club, an organization devoted to improving its members' public speaking, will open its new season at a 6:30 dinner Tuesday at the Community House.

A Junior majoring in mechanical engineering, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde G. Slade, 2889 Kentmore Road, Birmingham.

THE NEW Volunteers received their training at the University of Chicago where they spent a total of 12 weeks.

Burch Building

Now nearing completion, the Burch Building, located at 51 West Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Hills, will provide legal offices for Mr. L. C. Burch, Jr. and also rental suites for other professionals.

The building is on the site of the former Bloomfield Post Office. Lower walls and floor of the Post Office have been retained.

The exterior is of dark stained rewood and white painted masonry. Mahogany paneling is a feature of several of the offices.

Architects for the building are Begrow and Brown, Architects of Bloomfield Hills and Bellaire, Michigan.

For members of Birmingham Chapter A. X. PEO Sisterhood—the right exercise of any talent we possess, has been the inspiration for a year's club work which will culminate in a sale of handmade gifts, the fair to be known as "La Petite Affaire," today in the home of Mrs. C. E. Dalton, 325 N. Williamsburg, Birmingham.

Three Birmingham girls entered Christian College, Columbia, Mo., at the opening of its 113th fall term Sunday.

They are Judith Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Hawkins, 3280 1/2 White Oak Terrace; Barbara Riemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Riemann, 16124 Locherbie; and Pauline Schnackel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Schnackel, 2596 Covington Place, Birmingham.

They were allowed to take pictures where a soldier committed suicide. The large bunker was there.

Edward P. Sammut, 525 Arzyle Blvd., Birmingham, has been named a vice president of Electrographic Corp., New York City.
