NORTH ADAMS Exchange Student Stays with Kaufmans

By ELIZABETH YATES MI 6-1682

Many new and exciting experiences are taking place day by day in the families of North Adams residents and their foreign exchange students.

Mrs. Russell Kaufman and her three sons, Russel, Raymond and Richard, of Charnwood Drive, have welcomed Hans-Jurgin Voss of Mülkendorf, Germany, into their home for the year. Hans-Jurgin was among a group of 600 students arriving in August from all over the world sponsored through Youth For Understanding.

Hans-Jurgin is attending Troy High School along with Russel. Both boys are seniors. Raymond is a sophomore at Troy, and 10-year-old Richard attends Johnston Niles.

The family is planning a series of week-end trips this fall so that their guest can visit Niagara Falls, the Mackinac Bridge and northern Michigan. They have taken him to area points of interest and introduced him to the hot dog and hamburger.

Among the things that have surprised Hans-Jurgin since his arrival is all the equipment that accompanies each sport. In Germany, the children fashion their own equipment out of what can be found and made by hand.

THE RAYMOND Foxes of Oakhill Drive have Tommi Kihlberg of Helsinki, Finland, living with them for the year. Tommi arrived with the "Youth for Understanding" group in August and attends Seaborn High School. Also attending Seaborn is Jim Fox, a junior. Son Bob is a junior at Albion College.

Tommi has spent the last two summers in Sweden and England and has traveled throughout Europe. He finds the "biggest" of the United States overwhelming. The Foxes have taken Tommi to Niagara Falls; and Stratford, Ont., and plan to spend Christmas in Florida.

THE R. C. Sanderses of Oakhill Drive have returned home after accompanying their son Dave to Massachusetts Institute of Technology for his freshman year. They stayed the week-end in Boston before a sight-seeing trip through New Hampshire.

The Eugene Spoehrs and four-year-old son John are new residents of Burnley Drive. Their move was from Wilmington, Del. Spoehr is sales representative of the Midwest for Spitz Laboratories. The family enjoys gardening. Mrs. Spoehr is a native of Honduras, Central America, and has been in the U.S. for the last eight years. Visiting the Spoehrs' now and for the next 10 days is her sister, Zonia, Guardiola of Honduras and New York City.

MORE NEWCOMERS in the North Adams area are the Cecil Turners of Robinhood Road. Their move was from Irving, Texas. Turner is chief production engineer with Ling, Temco, Vaught.

The family includes Cheryl, 14, a student at Seaborn High; Hal, 13, attending Derby Junior High; and Paul, 11; Greg, 10; Brad, 8; and Vicki, 5, pupils at Italian School. Camping, football, bowling and golf are just a few of the Turners' interests.

W. W. Turner of Garland, Tex., visited his brother and family last week-end.

The Jack Oravas are settled in their new home on Rock Spring Road; they are formerly of Detroit. The couple has a 14-month-old son, Kevin. Orava is a clay modeler at the General Motors Tech Center. Landscaping has taken the place of hobbies for the next year.

DR. AND MRS. Peter Gryson and their six-year-old twin daughters, Mary and Laura, have moved to Burnley Drive from Ann Arbor. Dr. Gryson is an orthodontist with offices in the Reed Building. The twins are students at Harlan School. Gardening and golf are enjoyed by the family.

The Royal Hobsons and four-year-old daughter Holly of Dallas, Texas, are new residents of Wendover Road. Hobson is manager of subcontract marketing of Ling, Temco, Vaught. Golf tops the family's interest list.

Visiting the Hobsons are relatives from Cleveland, R.L. Mrs. Grace Kriget, Mrs. Emma Carigan and Mrs. Mrs. Edward Olson.

THE RALPH FAYES, newcomers to Charing Way Drive, are former residents of Cleveland, Ohio. They have a five-year-old daughter, Susanne, attending Eastover School. Faye is a salesman with Dann Co. Gardening is among their family interests. Arriving in October for a visit will be their first house guest, Faye's mother, Mrs. Alta Faye of Cleveland.

The James McDonnells moved into their new home on Wattle Road recently from Clinton, Ill. The McDonnell children are James, 17, attending Troy High; Bill, 15, and Mimi, 12, students at Baker Junior High; and Richard, 8, a pupil at Poppleton.

McDonnell is a representative with Eaton Paper Co. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and attended Siena College in Loudenville, N. Y. Mrs. McDonnell attended Pierce Junior College and is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. The family is bridge, golf and gardening enthusiasts.

MOVING FROM Boston, Mass., recently were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Copeland of Meadowlane. He is a lawyer with the Ford Motor Division of Ford Motor. They both enjoy refinishing furniture as a hobby.

Mrs. George Copeland of Boston, Copeland's mother, will arrive here for a visit in October.

The Aloysius Powers family of Detroit is a newcomer to Wattle Road. The Little Powers include Valerie, 13; Nancy, 11; Debra, 9; Chris, 8, all students at Holy Name, and Jeff, 4, attending Harlan.

The powers are do-it-yourself fans. They are presently building a three-tiered retaining wall on their hilly lot. Sewing and baking are hobbies of Mrs. Powers.
