Learning at Its Best

Wendy Wyant (second from right), a sixth grader at Seaholm School, was the best scorer for studying about the topic of Greenwich Village. Wendy studied hard in her English class to explain and answer questions that the teacher expected of her. She got the answers to questions on "What makes your ear ring?" and "What is a street lamp?" by asking her classmates that during the war a note was made about nothing but grime and grime. Pictured are, from left, Judy Keanan, Linda Wyant, Karen Metz, Wendy Wyant and Tim Ramirez.
