The Cranbrook Guild Cosponsors Music of the Opera Course

A venture in arts is being made by a group of students and faculty members at the Cranbrook School which will by the end of the month be the first in the country. The group, known as the Cranbrook School Opera Guild, will present a musical version of the opera "The Telephone." The performance will be held in a new building on the school campus.

The opera, "The Telephone," is a musical adaptation of the play by Elia Kazan and is being performed by the Cranbrook School Opera Guild. The performance will take place in a new building on the school campus and will feature student performers. The opera is a musical version of Chekhov's classic comedy, "The Three Sisters," and is directed by Professor Robert Newby of the University of Virginia.

Music of the Opera Course

The Cranbrook School Opera Guild is holding a Music of the Opera Course for the spring semester. The course, led by Professor Robert Newby of the University of Virginia, will meet on Tuesdays from 4-5 PM. The course will cover the history and development of opera, with a focus on the works of major composers such as Mozart, Verdi, and Puccini.
