State Editors Slate Annual Confab at MSU

A noted cartoonist, an advertising executive, a young cartoonist, a newspaper publisher, a newswoman, a newspaper editor, a photographer and a newspaper manager will be among the speakers at a Michigan State University conference Jan. 16-17.

Over 500 editors and their wives, representing the state's more than 300 daily and weekly newspapers, are expected at MSU's East Lansing campus for the 36th annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association.

VEGIS, PAUL, creator of the "Big George" cartoons character, will talk on humor in newspapers at the Thursday night program. Company owner and president of Fred Herington & Company, will discuss humor and how to effectively use it in newspapers. He is director and member of the board of the University of Detroit Press, Detroit.

Other highlights include a discussion of trade publications, discussion of the latest printing and newspaper equipment and the advertising ideas of 1963, a chance to look back at 1962, panels on advertising and the future of newspaper advertising. Editor of a new newspaper plant.

Airman Returns Following Training

Airman Third Class Clark St. Bennett, Jr., of Birmingham, is returning to his Michigan home via a Memorial Guard unit at Anitser, following his graduation from the U.S. Air Force basic training school.

Bennett, son of Mrs. Chester H. Bennett of 23077 Farmingdale Road, Birmingham, was trained in basic training center at Anitser, where he received training and instruction in the performance of the duties of an aircraft maintenanceman, and maintenance of aircraft and airplanes.

The service, a graduate of the University of Michigan, received his commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force Reserve.

Airman Completes Medical Training

Second Lieutenant Wedgrid W. Harris of the U.S. Air Force, completed medical training at the U.S. Naval Training Center at the University of Detroit. The training was completed at the Naval Training Center at the University of Detroit, Detroit, Michigan.

Airman Wedgrid W. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wedgrid W. Harris of 2407 Parkside East, was graduated with honors.

The airman completed the two-week training program at the University of Detroit, where he received training and instruction in military medicine and related subjects.