Up to the Minute

A conversation piece for Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Core, 2325
Manchester, Birmingham, is their Minute Man print. Mrs. Core, who works for the firm, ordered the framed picture from a stockroom where it had been stored for many years. According to the magazine, it had been donated to the museum May 6, 1948, by George H. Mitchell and Almira Whitcomb, founders of The Birmingham Museum. Core said the picture is a reproduction of the Minute Man statue and has no monetary value. "We used wallpaper crew on the print, and it's still in its old oak frame," he reported.

Artists Tell of Visit to India

By ELIZABETH ANNE LOYN Special Writer

What is the meaning of the Indian concept of "spiritualism"? What is the role of the guru in the lives of his students? How are artists and craftsmen treated in India? These are some of the questions that were answered by artists and craftsmen who recently returned from a trip to India. The trip was sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, a group that promotes the arts in the United States.

Players Plan "Pim Passes" Performance

"Pim Passes" is a play that is based on the life of an Arab. The play is set in the Middle East and is about the life of a young Arab who is forced to leave his village and travel to the city to find work. The play is performed by a group of actors who are all from the Middle East.
