B'ham Woman's Club Begins 74th Year

Members of the Birmingham Woman's Club are looking forward to seeing old friends and meeting new members when the club opens its 74th year at a desert tea, Monday, 12:30 p.m. at the Birmingham Community House.

A. J. Tobin will speak on "Trust Funds and Wills."

Hostesses for the day are the executive board consisting of Mrs. Frederick P. Betz, president; Mrs. James P. Lowman, first vice president; Mrs. Edward J. Bush, second vice president; Mrs. Amos F. Gregory, recording secretary, and Mrs. Donald K. Miller, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Victor L. Mould, treasurer, will assist as will Mrs. Hans Schjolin, director 1963-64 and Mrs. John W. Walrath, director 1964-66.

Assisting the executive board are Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick, tea chairman, and Mrs. Thomas P. Gordon, program chairman.

Departmental meetings are scheduled for the third Tuesday of the month. On Oct. 20, the American home department, with Mrs. Glenn Coley as chairman and hostess, will have a dessert meeting at 12:30 p.m. and will view "The New York World's Fair" presented by the Detroit Edison Company.

The fine arts department will hear a talk by Dorothy G. Modrak entitled "History of Picture Frames." Mrs. G. W. Moyne is chairman of the department and Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick is hostess for the 12:30 p.m. luncheon meeting.

The literature department will have a 12:30 luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell McBride. Mrs. Ralph A. Main, chairman of the department, has chosen Mrs. Amos F. Gregory as chairman for the meeting. Mrs. George Caronia will speak on "Our Troubled Youth."

Members and guests of the modern living department will go high-hat at its 12:30 p.m. dessert meeting at the home of Mrs. Donn W. Van Der Vort. Hats will be available to view, style and buy.

Mrs. William Mikulas is chairman of the department and Mrs. Frederick P. Betz and Mrs. V. R. Haagerstad will assist.

Plans to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Mills, of Mobile, Ala., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Macrae Derby, to Lt. Richard Louis Weyand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland P. Weyand, of Bloomfield Hills.

Miss Derby, also the daughter of Mr. Edwin L. Derby of Denton, Tex., attended the Julius T. Wright's School and graduated from Murphy Senior High School and The Tobe Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York. She is currently on the staff of Vogue Magazine. Lt. Weyand graduated from Culver Military Academy, Cornell University, where his fraternity was Psi Upsilon, and Cornell Graduate School of Public and Business Administration. At present he is serving as a 1st Lieutenant in the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N.C. A November wedding is planned.
