

Treasure Hunt Party Wins Praise

By ELIZABETH VAN LOAN
MI 7-2324

"We had a marvelous time," said Mrs. Stan Ainsley. "It was a ball. A very nice party and different," said Mrs. Thomas Bowick. Mrs. Martin Healey: "Just fantastic. So well planned. A wonderful, wonderful party." Mrs. Emil Coakley: "Very, very nice. A lovely midnight supper." Mrs. Robert Carey: "Just fabulous. Different."

WHAT ARE the pals talking about? The Oct. 3 treasure hunt party put on by the William Cranmers who had 21 couples securing the town for clues.

By one of these incredible coincidences, the location of clue No. 7—the entrance to Kirk in the Hills—had also been chosen by a second treasure hunt party as their clue No. 7.

The second group, arriving at the Kirk before the Cranmer party, went off with the wrong set of clues and before the mix-up could be straightened out, several Cranmer guests had unwittingly joined up with the other group.

The winning team, back at the Cranmers well before the midnight deadline, were Mrs. John Katsis, Mrs. O. D. Thomas, Bob Clifford and Stan Ainsley.

MRS. H. F. O'Malley, Jr., of W. Newland Drive will do the customary this afternoon as members of the Newcomers Club model clothes for the Litchfield Shop at the club's monthly luncheon at the Freemasons' Home.

Mrs. O'Malley and her family moved here last year from Dallas where she was associated with Newman-Macrae.

MEMBERS of the couples club of St. Andrew Lutheran Church met at the church Friday evening, formed car pools and drove to Upland Hills Farm in Oxford.

After a hayride, they went back to the farmhouse for a snuggly dinner and dancing to records.

MR. AND MRS. Harry Hauck of Middleton Drive returned Oct. 2 from a short vacation in Las Vegas. They stayed at the Flamingo and enjoyed the pool in the 95-degree heat along with Robert Goulet who opened a singing engagement at the Flamingo Oct. 1.

Prior to their departure for the West, the Haucks were deluged with quarters by friends asking them to try their luck for them on the slot machines. No luck and no jackpot!

"You'd be surprised," said Mrs. Hauck, "ten quarters are gone in five minutes."

NEWLYWEDS Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Vine are at home in Spartan Village, East Lansing, following their marriage on Sept. 12.

Mr. Vine, son of the Floyd F. Vines of W. Maple Road, is an accountant in the university business office of Michigan State University.

ANOTHER PAIR of newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Laslo Koenig (she's the former Karen Weaver of Killebrennan Road), flew last week to Warsaw, Poland, where they will spend the next nine months in study and painting.

Mr. Koenig is the recipient of a Fulbright Hayes grant sponsored by the State Department and is on leave from Rhode Island College where he is an art instructor. Mrs. Koenig's parents, the Ira Weavers, were in Washington, D. C. the week of Sept. 21 to visit as much as possible with their daughter and son-in-law while the young couple were undergoing the necessary briefings for the trip.

Judy Carey of Raven Court, who was 11 years old on Oct. 7, invited 10 friends to a birthday dinner party last Saturday at the home of her parents, the Robert Careys.

AFTER 15 years' residence in Birmingham, the John F. Heflins of Hedgewood Drive moved yesterday to their new home at 5012 Canpan Drive, Midland.
