

Dorchester Hills Ball Is 'Success'

By MARION CASKEY
MA 6-6560

Consensus has it that Dorchester Hills subdivision's Laungher Ball at Pine Knoll last Saturday night was an overwhelming success.

Couples danced over the lamplit dance floor, consumed about everything on the groaning buffet, and carried home the 43 lovely gifts... one of which was a gas-lighting past lamp.

The dance spawned preceding cocktail parties all around the town. The W. L. Breckwolds of Cheviot Drive hosted one for members of their neighborhood gourmet club. Several members had to miss, however, being on final committees for the dance itself.

"Because we've found Franklin people so much fun to have around," the Boy Cashos give as the reason for the open house they are having this Saturday evening. They have invited the many friends they've made in Franklin in the year and a half they've lived on River Drive.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Robertson, up at the other end of River Drive, were most happy to have visiting last weekend. Ruth's brother, Raymond B. Maloy of Chevy Chase.

He was here for the 5th anniversary of the aeronautical school at U. of M. They attended the Michigan-Michigan State game at East Lansing, and, naturally, were ecstatic over the results, after a nine-year drought.

Ruth's brother is with the Federal Aeronautics Association and travels all over the world, making his conversation utterly fascinating.

Included at long last were the husbands of the girls in Ruth Kottier's afternoon bridge club. The time was joyous to last Saturday night and the Harry Rottiers were hosts at their Tweed Drive home to the rest of the group for a stimulating evening of duplicate.

THIS WEEK'S four-day holiday occasion by the teachers' MEA conference affords many high schoolers a chance to go college shopping.

J. D. Bartleson of 14 Mile Road, along with classmates Dan Hastings, J. W. Aiken, and Bill Anderson, are driving through New England to look at some of the Ivy League schools, Cornell, Harvard and Yale. Upon reaching New York City, they have arranged to stay in the AFS dormitory there.

Last weekend the senior Dave Bartleson welcomed some Dave friends from their Cleveland days, Irene and Herman Bliss, for a couple of days.

The Blesses attended the MSU-Michigan game with them Saturday. Daughter Judy stayed home this week as she had modeling obligations to fulfill at a Birmingham store with Ann Doty and Bunny McBride.

ORLAND ELLIS is driving son Brian and his buddy, Bruce Black, down Virginia way this weekend to visit brother Craig at Randolph Masses Military Academy at Front Royal. They also plan to give William and Mary college the once-over.

The James McGuires of 13 Mile Road spent last week in New Orleans. Arriving just as Hurricane Billa left, they had a humpy flight in, but loads of fun once they landed. Jim was there for a convention while Jane went along for vacation.

A TRIP to Washington, D. C., for Dr. and Mrs. Sheldon Stern of Woodlure was prompted by the World Congress on the Cornea sponsored by the International Eye Bank. As it was her first trip to the capital city, Jessie crammed the days with sight-seeing.

Returning this week, Mrs. Stern, as room mother, gave a coffee for the mothers of Franklin's afternoon kindergarten class.

MRS. R. F. BARNETT of Woodlure is looking forward to having her mother, Mrs. Louis Landfield, here for a few weeks from California.

In Wood Creek, Mrs. Charles Brown of Chenoweth Court combined the monthly meeting of the women's association with the in-coming for the Wood Creek Needlework Guild a week ago.

Tuesday, Mrs. Vernon Fisher was chairman with Mrs. Roy Nelson assisting as cochairman for the meeting.

ALL OVER FRANKLIN neighborhood captains for the United Fund have been grinning blinding coffees for their solicitors, Mrs. John Anger and Mrs. T. D. Denery joined forces for theirs to start the ball rolling.

Then came Mrs. Bill Dickey, Mrs. Frank McCord, Mrs. Robert Ramsay, Mrs. Richard Kern, Mrs. M. R. Scott and Mrs. F. A. Zagano last week. District chairmen are Mrs. G. J. Rundblad, Mrs. S. H. Burton and Mrs. M. Archer.

Oct. 21 is the date we give once for all and Franklin will be trying to repeat its distinction of being first with the most a reputation earned two years ago.

UF CHAIRMAN for the whole area is Mrs. Carl Rasmussen, who should be resting up this week after vacationing last week. Priscilla and Carl imported grandma to babysit and took off for Boston and New York.

The color in the New England mountains was reported "fabulous." In Boston, Priscilla painted things red with her old college buddies.

Then they went down to New York and the fair and took in "Funny Girl" and "Any Wednesday."

WE HAVE three new families to introduce this week. On Havorford are the Clearys. Michael and Laura have two children.

Linda is 12 and born Sept. 15, is Sean Michael. The Clearys moved in Oct. 1, when Laura was less than a week out of the hospital. Michael is an engineer at the Detroit Arsenal and the Clearys are from Shawnee, Okla.

Their alma maters are Notre Dame and St. Mary's. Sports cars hold Michael's interest. He belongs to the Sports Car Club and races. Laura sounds quieter. Her hobbies are bridge and ballet.

THERE ARE two new families on Franklin Road. In Gretchen Loppon's former house are Wayne and Valma McCane.

They just moved from Braes of Bloomfield and are well acquainted with the area. They have one married daughter, Mrs. Frederick Whitecroft of Bloomfield and four grandchildren.

Since they chose the house to have room for their grandchildren's visits, we'll introduce them: Debbie, 7, Lisa, 5, Ricky, 4, and Rusty, 3.

Wayne is with the Upsilon K. Velma likes bridge, golf and bowling and is active in club work.

IN THE NEW colonial on Franklin Road is the Mathewson family. Natalie and Wilfred have four children, Richard, 19, in fifth

Have You Met

Jeana and Eric Wild of 453 Fox River Drive in Fox Hills? The Wilds, formerly from Troy, moved from Northridge, Calif. Lorrie Ann who is 9, Ricky, 7 and Edith Lynn, 5 round out the family. Mr. Wild is a graduate of U-M where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta. He is associated with the Michigan division of Lingo-Tempeo-Vought.

Mrs. Wild attended the University of Manitoba and Winnapee General Hospital School of Nursing. She is active in the Girl Scouts and both Mr. and Mrs. Wild enjoy bowling and golf.

Nine-year-old Rita Racetta hopped out of her parents' car in Williamantic, Conn., during a heavy rain and was swept along the street by rushing water and disappeared down a storm sewer. She was swept 75 feet underground and finally dumped into the Williamantic River where women saw her and pulled her ashore. She suffered only minor bruises.
