

Bingham Farms OK's Nine Month Use of City Library

By NITA HARD
Special Writer

BINGHAM FARMS—Starting in November, all residents of Bingham Farms will be able to enjoy the privileges of using Baldwin Library services.

The village has approved an interim contractual agreement for the next 9 months at the cost of $275. A charter amendment to allow up to an additional mill for library services will be put on the March ballot for voters to decide if the agreement is to be extended.

Monday night's council action climaxed a gentle, low-pressure campaign by the women of the village headed by Mrs. Neil Warren. The victory was further sweetened when Irvan Hermanoff of Shagwong Dr. generously picked up the $275 charge and wrote a personal check for that amount as his donation to the community.

Hermanoff volunteered his check after the council had agreed to enter into the contract with Baldwin Library by borrowing the money from the general highway fund not expected to be used until next spring.

FOR SIX MONTHS the council has been prodded by Mrs. Warren's committee to consider entering into a contract for library services, as non-resident privileges were terminated this summer. However, it appeared there would be no funds available as three mills allowed by the charter have been allocated for roads and legal fees.

In September a letter was sent to 189 property owners, explaining the situation.

Forum

FORMER Oakland County resident, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, a Democrat, was introduced by WJR News Director Frank Tomlinson.

"It's impossible to discuss my record without discussing the record of the Kennedy-Johnson administration," said Michigan's junior senator, seeking a second six-year term.

"I have supported the Kennedy-Johnson recommendations: the test-ban treaty, Medicare, the emergency recovery act, civil rights, the war on poverty and aid to education."

On conservation and his Sleeping Bear Dunes proposal, Hart said, "Tourists are Michigan's largest industry. They don't come because we are so pretty, but because we have large stretches of countryside, water and magnificent shoreline, open to all."

HART'S REPUBLICAN opponent, Mrs. Ely Peters, said she did not pretend to know all of the answers. But I think what tends to represent a strong special interest like the ADA is that the ADA doesn't represent all of the people of Michigan.

"There are many questions which I would have to turn to people like you leaders of business and in our state for advice to help me, so that what we did would represent all of the people of Michigan, not a special interest."

WHEN WE talk about civil rights," she said, "we ought to talk about property rights. And when my opponent submitted his Sleeping Bear Dunes bill he did it without visiting the area and talking to the residents. A 77,000-acre park would have taken 1,600 homes; but when people fought it, the bureaucrats said, 'You have made a good showing, but we are going to vote you down.' People in that area should have their say."

Birmingham patent attorney Dale Winfield read a prepared statement from Cong. William S. Broomfield of Royal Oak, seeking his term as the 18th District's representative in the House. Broomfield was unable to appear because of a call to Washington for a briefing from Secretary of State Dean Rusk on international developments.

BROOMFIELD emphasized his activity in the field of foreign affairs as ranking Republican on the House's Far East and National Security subcommittees.

Broomfield's Democratic opponent, Frank Sierawski of Madison Heights, charged that Broomfield was given a choice of three separate days on which to appear in Washington.

"Why my opponent chose to go today," will leave to "you," he said. "It becomes very frustrating as you campaign as a nonincumbent to shadowbox, and this is all I have been able to do. I have never met William Broomfield."

He charged that Broomfield had voted parallel to Goldwater on nine issues.

STATE AUDITOR General Billie Farnum, Democratic candidate for congressman from the new 10th District, called for measures to prevent air and water pollution and raise water tables, as well as greater aid to education.

On the highly publicized National Guard audit made by his department, Farnum said it took almost seven months to check 4,832 transactions and prepare 17 volumes of documentation.

Farnum's Republican opponent, Richard D. Kuhn, arrived late and did not appear on the program.

ing and proposing a contractual arrangement with the Baldwin Library and requesting a reply to express willingness to consider an additional mill to pay for the service.

Of the 140 residents in the village, 110 returned answers, 79 were in favor of library service, 66 indicated they would approve the extra millage, and 13 said they wanted the service but did not agree to more taxes.

VILLAGE PRESIDENT James McGinley will present Hermanoff's check and sign the contract this week. A Bingham Farms Night will be planned at which time all Bingham Farms families will be invited to tour the library.

THE COUNCIL also announced they have asked for two informational meetings in the form of public hearings with professional planners to discuss zoning problems and the advisability of updating village zoning laws.

Members of the council have announced a three-and-a-half weeks consulting with various planning firms to ascertain what help can be obtained. The solution to existing and future zoning problems will necessitate the expenditure of money. Property owners are urged to attend one of the two meetings to learn details and needs. Dates will be announced shortly.

West Bloomfield Refuses to Ban Sunday Hunting

By BETH SHOTKA

WEST BLOOMFIELD—The township board turned down a request by the Cooperative Extension Service of Oakland County last week to recommend elimination of Sunday hunting in the township.

If passed, the ban would have applied to property owners as well as outsiders coming to the township to hunt.

Trustee John Warren said he was not in favor of the ban because many people in the township work six days a week, leaving only Sunday.

THE BOARD seemed to feel that to ban hunting completely is one matter, but picking out one day for the ban is unwise.

"Why Sunday? You can get shot as easily on Sunday as any other day," township trustee Joseph T. Brennan said.

In other board action, salaries for Sunday hunting in the township, officials whose terms begin April 1, 1965.

The supervisor will receive $100.00; the clerk, $85.00; and treasurer, $85.00.

A motion was made and carried to charge the supervisor's car expenses against the township.

Contracts Awarded For Construction

Contracts totalling $355,703 for the construction of a master fire station and an addition to the township hall have been awarded to four firms by the Bloomfield Township board.

The fire station will cost $251,703. E. E. Powell Construction Co. received the contract for base construction at an estimated cost of $187,210. Benjamin Maszkovich, a mechanical contract of $61,843; and Kasler Electric Co., $22,650 for electrical wiring.

A Birmingham firm, Chissus Construction Co., was bid leader on the township hall addition and was awarded a contract for $104,000.

Proof of residency should be presented upon application for a library card.

Future costs for renewing the contract in 1965 will be determined by quarterly survey studies of use. Present charges are based on studies made in the months of March, May, August and November, 1963.

NEW Fingertip Controlled HUMIDIFIER

operates on less than 1/2c per day!

We all know the benefits of adequate humidification: how it improves health, protects furniture, and saves fuel. The unique operating principle of the Dramatic humidifier gives you all these advantages with the highest moisture output at the lowest operating cost . . . LESS THAN 1/2c PER DAY! And you can dial the desired humidity by means of a Honeywell humidistat that can be placed anywhere in the home for convenient, controlled humidification.

The Dramatic utilizes a polyurethane foam evaporating pad on a motor driven spoked drum which rotates in a pan of water. Calcium deposits are absorbed by the pad—eliminating mineral dust in the air. When the pad becomes filled, it is easily replaced.

The Dramatic will supply adequate humidification for areas up to 3,000 square feet.
