Birmingham Residents Lend Support to Preaching Mission

Three Birmingham residents are playing key roles in the largest preaching mission in the history of the Michigan Episcopal Church, bringing one of the world's most widely known evangelists, Canon Bryan Green, of Birmingham, England, to the state for a three-week stay.

Mrs. Ruth McNamee, of 1271 Lakeside, Birmingham; and Frederick C. Matthaei, Jr., of 876 Covington Road, Birmingham; are both members of the Vestry of Christ Church, Cranbrook, and are working with the Rev. Michael Nesbitt, assistant minister of Christ Church, to promote the mission.

Mrs. McNamee has been active in state-wide Episcopalian work. She was invited by Bishop Robert DeWitt to join the Episcopal Church Women of the Diocese of Michigan and has served as president of Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church, Cranbrook.

MRS. McNAMEE was born in New York City and has been a Birmingham resident for the past 12 years. Her husband, William A. McNamee, is manager of field services with the Ford Division of field services of the Ford Motor Company.

Mr. Matthaei, a director of Bank of the Commonwealth, has held numerous executive positions in industry. He served as executive vice president and director of American Metal Products Company and president and director of Tube Reducing Corporation.

In civic affairs, he has served as trustee of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, vice chairman of the Detroit Olympic Committee and a member of the Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund and the Michigan Committee of Radio Free Europe.

The Rev. Nesbitt, who has had professional architectural experience and is a member of the Diocesan Commission on Church Architecture and the Diocesan College Work Committee, is serving as executive secretary to Canon Green at the request of Bishop Richard S. M. Emrich, of the Diocese of Michigan.

Canon Green and his co-missioners are preaching in eight Michigan cities through Nov. 22. Their missions will be directed toward making firm the faith of nominal Episcopalians, with people from all denominations welcome to the services.

THE FOCAL POINT of Canon Green's mission in the United States will be his appearances at 8 in the evening, Nov. 15 to Nov. 22, at Cobo Hall.

Canon Green will speak to the Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church, Cranbrook, Nov. 17, on the subject, "The Christian Home in the Mid-Sixties."

On Sunday, Nov. 22, the last day of his mission in the United States, Canon Green will return to Christ Church, Cranbrook, to preach at the 9 a.m. service.

Canon Green began to preach when he was 17. In the 45 years that have followed, he has traveled on preaching missions throughout the world to India, Africa, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the United States.

Educated at Merchant Taylor's School and London University, he received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree in 1922. Two years later, when he was 23 years old, he was ordained. In 1948, he made his first visit to the United States—a week-long campaign in the Diocese of New York.

THAT INITIAL visit to American Episcopalians, under the auspices of an Episcopal group, was so successful that he has preached in the U. S. every year since.
