March of Dimes Scholarship Goes To County Teen

Ellen Oakes, daughter of Mrs. Harlan J. Oakes, Drayton Plains, has received The National Foundation—The March of Dimes $500 Scholarship, to be used in furthering her studies of occupational therapy at Western Michigan University.

M. O. Awe, executive director of the Oakland County Chapter of The March of Dimes, stated that Ellen's outstanding scholastic achievements at Waterford-Kettering High School were a deciding factor in the scholarship consideration.

For three years she was a member of the cheerleading squad and actively participated in G.A.A. Ellen has served as captain of the junior varsity cheerleaders.

During her senior year she served as president of the G.A.A. Letter Club, was a member of the National Honor Society, student council, Trip Club and Y-Teens.

The faculty of Waterford-Kettering High School selected Ellen Oakes as the DAR Good Citizen during her senior year. SHE IS AN active member of the Drayton Plains Community Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Clayton Holaday, director of scholarships and loans at Western Michigan University, served as advisor to Miss Oakes in her scholarship application. Qualified occupational therapists are in demand in children's, state and general hospitals throughout the area.

After completing her studies at Western Michigan University Miss Oakes plans to work in a children's hospital.

One of the means making scholarships available to deserving students is through memorial funds received at the chapter office.

Church of Christ Sets Four-Night Workshop

"The Christian Home" is the theme of the Training for Service program planned by the Birmingham Church of Christ, Nov. 16-19. Wendell Broom, of Wilmington, Del., has been slated as the guest speaker.

A variety of programs have been planned for the four-night workshop. The teenagers will assemble in the main auditorium to hear Wendell Broom, an evangelist and specialist in Religious Education for young people.

Broom has served not only as a local minister and evangelist, but spent several years as a missionary in Nigeria, Africa. This workshop will begin at 7:30 p.m.

CONCURRENTLY WITH the workshop will be classes for parents taught by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hindsley, former missionaries to France, and now serving as parents and as Christians in the home. Other classes for the younger children will be taught by Christian teachers at this hour.

The Hindsleys, teaching men's and women's classes, will discuss the role of the husband and wife as partners, as parents and as Christians in the home. Other classes for the younger children will be taught by Christian teachers at this hour.

At 8:20 p.m., the second session will begin each evening with spirited hymn singing led by Hugh Mungle. Mr. Mungle is the Registrar of Michigan Christian College, Rochester.

Following the singing, Mr. Broom will then address the combined assembly of parents and children on the theme of "What's Happening to Our Families?" Nighly 8-9 p.m. on the overall and topical subjects of "What Families Are For," "How Families Use To Be," "Why Are They Different Now?" and "What Christians Must Believe."

THIS TRAINING FOR Service program is under the direction of the Birmingham Church of Christ, but it represents the cooperation of sister Churches of Christ in Pontiac, Walled Lake, Rochester, Waterford and Sylvan Lake.

"We believe that this program will contribute greatly to the faith of the members of the community as well as those of the local congregation," commented Morris M. Womack, minister of the Birmingham Church of Christ.

The rise in juvenile delinquency and the problems of immorality surely have their beginnings in the home. Christian parents are challenged to look within their homes for the answers to these problems," he added.

The program will begin promptly at 8:20 p.m. and will be concluded by 9 p.m. each evening. The address of the church is 3737 W. Big Beaver Road, one block east of Adams Road. For further information, call the church.

U-M Frosh Know Their English, Study Shows

The University of Michigan students learn little English is finding its freshmen better prepared in English than ever before. So pronounced has been this improvement that Michigan's College of Literature, Science and the Arts recently announced reduction of the requirement of freshman English for its students from six hours to three.

"We at Michigan would appear to be in a more fortunate position than is the case of several other universities who have been complaining that their entering freshmen are woefully ill-prepared in English," notes Dean William Haber.

HOWEVER, THE U-M dean continues, the Michigan decision to require only one term of freshman English instead of two was made after long study.

Says Dean Haber, "Factors determining this decision included the continued and substantial improvements in programs of high school instruction, the increasing stringency of admission standards in the college, the improved performance of entering freshmen on scholastic aptitude and other tests, the rising grade average of the college population, the decrease in freshman dropouts, and the rising level of competence demonstrated by students in freshman English courses."

Though the English requirement has been reduced, Prof. Warner G. Rice, chairman of the English department, points out, it has not been abolished.

A second term of English will also be available for those who desire it, as well as for those who require six hours for entrance to a professional school.

ONE THING that is most clearly evident, Dean Haber says, is that "instruction in high school English for the college-bound student has improved considerably during the past decade. Accordingly, one term's work in freshman composition which stresses rhetorical principles seems sufficient for a majority of students."

Prof. Rice reveals that the English department has proposed that the college set up a writing laboratory where students with serious problems to overcome could be given special direction and supervision.

"The charges that high school English is inadequate and the worst-prepared in the college group. But almost none who come to Michigan are inadequately trained in spelling and the 'mechanics' of punctuation, usage and grammatical structure."

"WE SERVE THE SUBURBS"

SMOOTH WHITE SAUCE IS UNIVERSAL BASE

Everyone has at some time in life known a really superb cook. If you know more than one, you are indeed fortunate, and it just might be that you are one of these people yourself. Cooks perform their magic with a minimum of pots and pans, the simplest of ingredients, and plenty of imagination.

One kitchen magician I know says she starts off with a white sauce and continues from there. A good basic white sauce can go on to be cream soup or a base for the casserole. It can be gravy or the difference between plain green beans and Green Beans Parisienne. Let's start with the white sauce itself, remembering that the magic is in the choice of ingredients. Use Keyko Margarine as a spread, for baking. Make the white sauce with Keyko, too!

Melt ¼ cup Keyko in saucepan over low heat
Blend in ¼ cup flour
Gradually add 2 cups milk
Always use low heat or make the sauce double boiler to keep the delicate Keyko flavor. Use a large spoon for blend.

Keep stirring as you add the milk.
Keep the sauce hot over boiling water. Add salt and pepper as needed, of course. 2 cups cooked, diced potatoes, 1 tbsp. chopped chives and a little more milk makes potato soup. Slice up some sharp cheese in the sauce and pour over cooked macaroni for a casserole or gravy, simply add the basic sauce to the pan drippings and the roast has been removed. Put a little curly powder in the sauce and serve on left-over lamb chops, "Keep Southfield Beautiful", and Robert W. Weber, director of the Southfield Business Association.

Any city desiring more information regarding the work of the beautification council may contact the group's president, Mr. C. Sam Zilly.
