

11-Year-Old's Birthday Party Highlighted by Scavenger Hunt

By ELEANOR NELSEN
MI 7-9056

Friday, November 6 was a big day in the life of Robin Ricketts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Ricketts of Pebble Lane.

It was her 11th birthday and, with the aid of her mother, planned a scavenger hunt to entertain her guests. The young ladies were invited to arrive at 4:45 p.m. to receive their instructions and lists of articles they were to find for the hunt.

Mrs. Ricketts had all she could do to restrain them before the starting time of 5 p.m., after which they were to be given one hour to round up their "treasures."

ALTHOUGH THE items to be brought back seemed fairly difficult to obtain (a back issue of Readers' Digest, hard-boiled egg, an old battery, a potato which had begun to sprout, etc.), the girls were back within 15 minutes which threw the young hostess-mother completely as she had planned on leisure time to tie up the loose ends.

Those who enjoyed the novel party were Michele Duke, Judy Cosman, Leslie Heder, Susan Peck, Carol Pearson, Kerrie Huber and Karen Philp. Others were Holly Williams, Frances Bobotek, Kathleen Crafty, Cheryl Winegarden and her two younger sisters, Cindy and Tammy. The party ended with a twist contest in which Robin's younger sister Tracy, who is only two, took part.

THE WESTCHESTER Village Club in the area after contacting the Westchester school and obtaining permission from Principal Donald Bunker, set up containers in the corridor for Trick and Treat candy the youngsters might wish to donate to less fortunate people. Again, everyone cooperated beautifully.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday during the first week in November the school children diminished their candy supply at home and added to the growing pile at the school.

It then took Mrs. George Merritt and Mrs. Robert Mace the greater part of Thursday and Friday to sort out what had been donated.

After all it wouldn't seem right to bring jobs of bubble gum to a series of ribbon home.

Setting two days aside for delivery, the women made trips to the Oakland County Children's Center, Evangelical Home for Children and Aged, Pontiac State Women's Receiving Wing and Pontiac State Children's Wing.

PAT McDONALD (Mrs. James) of Robinson Lane is bemoaning deadline postal dates because she hasn't done her Christmas shopping yet. Packages to other states are to be ready by Dec. 5 and overseas mail should have been ready by Nov. 14—and she has a package headed for Africa.

In the meanwhile her daughter, Maureen is as excited as any youngster can be because she is celebrating her third birthday on Thanksgiving Day, no less.

Drive hosted a bridge group, comprised of what might be termed charter members of Meadowlake on Nov. 4. The ladies finished at Topinka's before their card playing at the Copeland home.

Guests of the day were Mrs. Wilfred Bierbaum, Mrs. Stanley Voorhees (who also celebrated her birthday that day), Mrs. Arthur Danahy, Mrs. Hazel Weisich, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. Clyde Fulton and Mrs. James LaPlant, who has now moved to Ann Arbor.

YOUNG JOHN Kenyon, age five, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. William Kenyon of Middlebury Lane was a very important young man at the wedding of his uncle, John Kenyon which took place in Grosse Pointe on Nov. 14. He was the bearer of the rings.

When the Westchester Village held their election of officers in October the following were chosen to head the association:

President, William Kenyon; vice president, Martin Kilsdonk; secretary, Mrs. C. K. McKenzie; treasurer, Robert Jacobites.

Board members are Mrs. Denton

Hassell, Herbert Jones, Mrs. Delmar London, Fred Mallender, Edward McGee, Gene Mueller, Ted Simon, John Spolmer, James Sweeton, George Tomecock and Dale Wacker.

NOW HERE are some people who have the right idea.

Five couples Mr. and Mrs. John Naughton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Vaughley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ashton, all of the Westchester area and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harlchay of Royal Oak, made plans to attend the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game on Nov. 14.

Rather than go in separate cars, they rented a motor home from one of the auto agencies, plus a chauffeur, and made a real swinging party out of the day.

Leaving early in the morning (7:30 a.m.), the women provided groceries to take care of breakfast, lunch and dinner aboard their land cruiser. No worries about reservations in dining places of who might be too tired to drive home.

WELCOME NEW neighbor — Mr. and Mrs. Con Nolan of 310 South Cranbrook Cross Road who moved into their home from Detroit three weeks ago with their ten-month old daughter, Colleen Marie.

Nolan, in production planning with the Ford Motor Co., Lincoln-Mercury Division, is a graduate of Notre Dame and also holds a master's degree from Michigan State University. Mrs. Nolan's alma mater is Marygrove. Both the Nolans' enjoy bridge and golf for relaxation.

The St. Angela Guild of St. Regis Parish will have a "Lunch-on-a-Served" party Friday, Nov. 27, 12:30 p.m. It will be held in the St. Regis School Library. Guests are invited to attend.

MRS. G. J. LIMP JR.

Newlyweds To Make Home In Birmingham

Kirk in the Hills was the setting for the marriage of Nancy Rae Supplee to George J. Limp Jr. at 4 p.m. Saturday. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. Harold C. DeWindt.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. S. Raymond Supplee of Sunningdale, Birmingham, and Mr. and Mrs. George J. Limp of Ardmore Drive, Bloomfield Hills.

The bride wore a brocade gown, while a lion hair secured her silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

SUSAN ELAINE Allen served as maid of honor, while Mrs. Richard Raymond Supplee assisted as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Judith Anne Hildman, the bride's cousin, and Judith Anne Rader.

The attendants were attired in floor-length gold pail de soie gowns, and they carried varicolored mums.

Assisting as best man was the groom's brother-in-law, Robert H. Fietzke. The bride's brother, Richard Raymond Supplee, Henry H. Bean and Waller Harris seated guests.

Following a reception at the Village Woman's Club, the couple left for a Florida honeymoon. They will make their home on Duchester Road in Birmingham.
