Workshops

will be made beginning the first Saturday in December. Burt Bowkamps of Masfield Drive, Scoutmaster of the troop, will also aid the Scouts by taking phone orders or by sending a Scout to your door promptly.

Last week and the Boy Scouts took time out before the Christmas rush to enjoy hiking and camping at the Charles Howell Boy Scout Ranch.

A CHRISTMAS luncheon and workshop was hosted by Mrs. Richard Golze of Tullamore Drive last Wednesday afternoon. The colorful menu included mugs of soup, a red and green molded carrot salad followed by a red and green decorated angel food cake. At each place setting were ice cream cones decorated as Christmas trees.

The guests brought materials to work on their individual holiday projects. Mrs. Golze instructed those wanting to learn to make pine-cone wreaths.

In the group were Mrs. Edward Brown of S. Westview Court, Mrs. Al Agnew of Helton Road, Mrs. Walter Freitag of Satterlee Drive and Mrs. Albert Lane of Beverly Hills.

THE WILLIAM Downings of Haddington Drive joined 15 area couples, all Equitable Life Insurance employees, for the annual week end outing at the St. Clair Inn on Saturday.

On the evening of Nov. 21, the Downings will be entertaining an office group of 25 persons for dinner and the evening.

Norman Sullivan of Kirkcaldy Drive spent last Saturday with his daughter, Pat, at Western University for "Dad's Day."

Pat, a freshman, entertained her dad at the dorm for a coffee and open house in the morning followed by the football game and dinner in the evening.

THE LOUIS Crooks of Yorkton Lane spent the month of October traveling through the East with a week's stay in Vermont to enjoy the autumn colors.

Washington, D. C., the coastline of Carolina and two weeks in Hollywood, Fla., were also part of the sojourn.

On their return the Crooks had a house guest, James Stevens from Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

Home from a five-day stay in Boston, Mass., are the Andrew Smiths of Burnley Drive. While Mr. Smith attended the annual National Association Suggestion Systems, Mrs. Smith joined a group and toured Concord, Lexington, the Paul Revere home and dined at the Longfellow Wayside Inn.

THE VAUGHN Grooms and daughter, Kimberley, of Tullamore Drive pack their gear in their truck-trailer and spend their week ends enjoying the great outdoors.

The past two week ends were spent at Proud Lake Recreation Area canoeing and hiking. Son, Jeff, 14 months old, goes along occasionally but usually looks forward to the warmth of grandmother's house.

Home from 10 days on the West coast are the Burt Bouwkamps of Masfield Drive. A few days were spent in Denver before flying on to San Francisco where they spent a week. They were house guests of friends, the Rich Franches, while they toured the picturesque city.
