

Bardha Brothers' Story Detailed in Beauty Magazine

The story of three Bardha brothers, now of Birmingham, who had escaped their Communist-controlled homeland in Albania, is told in detail in a recent Beauty Salon Times, a trade publication.

Andre, immigrated to Detroit under sponsorship of the city's Albanian community in 1957. They worked for Nino's prior to opening their own $200,000 Bardha Salon on Haynes in Birmingham.

International hair-cutting and styling awards are on display at the salon, a contemporary structure designed by Birmingham architects Gunnar Birkerts and Frank Straub.

Residents Share In Show Planning

Members of the Princeton Club of Michigan gathered recently at the University Club to plan the Detroit production of the Princeton Triangle Club show "Grape Expectations".

Included on the show committee are Birmingham residents Curtis W. Poole, 19180 Riverside; David W. Raymond, 3560 Roland; Charles W. Williams, 1824 Pine; and William W. Stewart, 3810 Brookside.

The undergraduate group, now in its 50th year, will present the musical comedy at the Masonic Temple Dec. 29. Tickets are on sale at Grinnells.

WILLIAMS is chairman of the Detroit production this year and was Manager of the 1958 show "Once Over Lightly."

Stewart, in charge of ticket sales, was a member of the Triangle orchestra for the 1943 show "Ask Me Another" and was in the chorus of "Time and Again" in 1942.

Working with Raymond, on local publicity are Birminghamites Bruce Ocko, 32991 Auburn, and Paul L. Penfold, 762 Lakeside.

Ballet Group Holds Tea

An organizational tea at the Village Nursery School in Farmington will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday for members and would-be members of the Children's Ballet Theatre.

The tea will celebrate the beginning of the third year of this non profit, civic organization whose purpose is to recognize and encourage the dancing talents of children between the ages of 10 and 18 in the Birmingham, Farmington, Royal Oak, Pontiac and general Oakland County area.

The theater provides seminars and workshop classes for students of classic and contemporary ballet. Teacher members include Mrs. David Keilam, Mrs. William Kreson, Mrs. Paul Pantokan and Mrs. James Foote.

Mrs. Ford Ritter is chairman of the board of directors. Other directors include Mrs. Walter W. Garrett, Mrs. Archibald Doty, Jr., Mary Spaulding, David Booth and Eugene Pulgini.
