Art Directors Display Work In New York

Nine Birmingham art men, all directors for MacManus, John Adams, Bloomfield Hills, have their "off hours" art work on exhibit beginning Tuesday, at the Art Directors Club in New York City.

The collection of paintings and sculpture, created by the art directors representing Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis and New York branches of the advertising agency, will be on display to the public through Friday.

The exhibits of M&A artists is "primarily to encourage our people in the total engagement of their talent," according to Donald E. Jones, senior vice president of M&A.

"ITS SECONDARY purpose is to display the depth of creativity upon which effective modern advertising is based. If, indeed, a talent gap once existed between 'ad art' and 'fine art,' I think the distance has been narrowed significantly," Jones said.

John Borgstinner, editor of Time Magazine, will judge the entries and select the winner of the Ernest A. Jones award, which is given annually by M&A President, Jones.

Among those contributing from this area are George Sparks, 817 Saginaw, Royal Oak; Richard Hirn, 1641 Fairford; Hubert Volkman, 1225 Bird; Dick Zayac, 1554 Pembroke; and Fred Simper, 3075 Spring.

Others are Edward Kucera, 770 Lakeville Rd., Lakeville; Dick Salaty, 404 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills; Robert Bygon, 99 Chippewa and William Gilmore, 2510 Garland, both of Pontiac.

Duplicate Club Is Enlarging

The Mayfair Duplicate Bridge Club, 5330 Middlebelt Rd., is expanding its facilities for handling groups by opening the upstairs of the unoccupied farmhouse where the games are now held.

The second floor will accommodate nine tables or one full section, and double that number can be handled on the main floor. A telephone will be installed this week for the convenience of customers.

THESE preparations are being made, so that everything will be in order for the December schedule of events. On Friday, the regular game will be held. The following week, Dec. 12, will be master point night, and on Dec. 18, the club will hold a champagne bridge party as a combination birthday and Christmas celebration. The charge will be the same for all three nights.

On New Year's Eve, the club will hold a duplicate bridge and supper party, and reservations are now being taken for this event.

Winners for Nov. 28 were North-South, Roy and Ruth Praehauf; East-West, Dr. K. Chutkan and Rhoda Levin; Second Place, North-South, Paul and Marjorie Potter; East-West, Dr. and Mrs. J. Riederhof.

LET'S TALK ABOUT CHRISTMAS TREES

Mrs. Plassey and me like Christmas Trees! In fact, we planted some dandy Scotch Pine Christmas Trees 11 years ago and are now enjoying watching them grow. Funny, you know, how you can get attached to some trees. Well, Mrs. Plassey and me figured that it was getting time to cut down some of them, even though we sure hate to. "Wouldn't they look dandy," says Mrs. Plassey, "sitting in somebody's living room this Christmas?" Then, she said, "I'll tell you. Will, (that's me), you aren't going to cut down a whole batch of trees and let them die on some street corner. Well, I'm not as dumb as I feel. (That's Mrs. Plassey) sometimes thinks I am. "Why Helen," I says, "We'll get The Birmingham Eccentric to run an ad in their paper and invite folks all around Birmingham to get the kids together and come on out and pick out one of them Scotch Pines and I'll cut it down. Why, it's like an old fashioned Christmas! Besides, the best part is the five dollar price for a Brand Fresh Scotch Pine Christmas Tree. They can come out anytime and we'll tag the one they pick out and cut it down when they're ready.

So, if you folks want a dandy Christmas tree for five dollars, that's fresh and hasn't been sitting around in a truck for a month or more, get in your car and come out. Drive out Rochester Road to Rochester — cross the bridge and turn left at the end of the bridge — that's Second Street — go five blocks to the end of Second and turn left — that's Wilcox — go one block on Wilcox and turn right on First Street — go two blocks on First Street and turn left on Castell — go two blocks on Castell to the end and there's our sign. Bet you thought you'd never get here. Continue on down our Road and we'll be waiting for you with an ax and a saw. OL 2-7421, 501 Harding Road, Rochester.

Riding 'Bearback'

Scott McVeigh, 475 S. Glenhurst, Birmingham, sits atop two Michigan black bears shot by his father, Hugh, and 14-year-old Hugh Calk, while hunting at the Family Hunting Lodge at Hubbard Lake. McVeigh dropped the female bear (left) with four shots, while his young nephew bagged the smaller black cub. The McVeigh family will have rugs made from the skins. Maybe son Scott is just trying to get the 'bear' facts?

Toweling Will Aid Sweater Washing

Nothing feels clammy on a chilly day than putting on a washed sweater that feels dry on the outside, only to find that the inside, especially where the sleeves and body of the sweater join the body, is still damp.

You can prevent this if, when you spread the sweater out to dry on the night before, you put layers of paper toweling inside the sleeves and body of the sweater and let them stay there all night.
