Safe Driving Tips Revealed For Holidays

The 6,000 employees of the Detroit Arsenal in Warren are being urged to participate in a "Drive For a Safe Holiday" project.

Robert Shirock, director of safety for the U.S. Army Mobility Command at the arsenal urged each arsenal employee to consider six safety tips for a safe Christmas-New Year driving.

- The six tips:
 - Have your car checked. Remember the "circle of safety."—brakes, tires, lights, steering, exhaust, glass, windshield wipers and washers, rear view mirror and horn.
 - Use seat belts. They help prevent injuries, save lives. Seconds will buckle a belt; an instant will release it.
 - Give yourself a break. Whether going downtown or on a trip, allow enough time so you won't feel pushed. On long trips, take frequent breaks.
 - Be alert to hazards. Adjust your driving to road, traffic and weather conditions. Remember, posted speed limits are for normal driving conditions.
 - Adopt good driving habits.
 - Merge smoothly into traffic, keep pace with other cars, signal well in advance of your turn or change of lane.
 - Use courtesy abundantly. Everywhere—at intersections, when turning, while passing or being passed, at night when your headlights are on high beam—"make courtesy your code of the road."
- Shirock commented: "The tips aren't just for driving on long trips. They're for in-town driving, too." He said that studies show three out of four traffic deaths take place within 25 miles of home and a half of serious accidents happen at speeds of 40 miles an hour or less.

U.S. Navy Granting Leaves to Recruits

The U. S. Navy is granting leave for the Christmas holidays for recruits that enlist during the month of December, Howard T. Weldon, local Navy recruiter, announced.

Applicants that enlist in December will be sworn in the Navy on Dec. 21 after which they will be granted 13 days advance leave.

Upon expiration of their leave on January 4, 1965 at 8 a.m., they will return to the Federal Building in Detroit for the purpose of obtaining transportation to their respective Naval Training Centers at Great Lakes, Ill. and San Diego, Calif.

Recruiter Weldon points out that this advance leave will not preclude the granting of regular recruit leave upon completion of recruit training.

Youth Wins Award For Original Design

A youthful Birmingham resident, Joseph F. Savin, has been honored with a junior engineer certificate of award from The Toy Tinkers division of A. G. Spalding & Bros., Inc.

Young Joseph received the award for creating an original model of a "pumphouse," made from a Tinkertoy Construction Set.

Models submitted by youngsters are considered for inclusion in the company's instruction sheets and according to chief designer Jack Wright, "We are guided in introduction of new models by the imagination of the children who send us their creations. Many find their way into our instruction sheets that are periodically revised."

The award certificate reads, "In recognition of creative imagination, ingenuity and skill, The Toy Tinkers offers this certificate as evidence of this achievement."

Foundation Reveals Future Sewer Needs

A master plan outlining the Detroit metropolitan area's future sewerage requirements will be made public next Thursday. The report will be released by the National Sanitation Foundation at 10 a.m. in the Veterans Memorial Building, 151 West Jefferson, Detroit.

Financed by local, federal and private funds, the $256,000 study took 26 months to complete.

It is expected to detail the area's sewerage needs through the year 2100.

Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe and St. Clair Counties were covered by the research project.

THE STUDY WAS commissioned by the Sanitation Council for Southeastern Michigan (SCSM) as a means of finding the most economical and efficient approach to sewerage construction and planning and sewage treatment.

Represented in the SCSM are the City of Detroit, the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, the National Sanitation Foundation, the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, and the Metropolitan Fund, Inc.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit, Edward Connor, chairman of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, and Dr. Robert J. Anderson, assistant United States Surgeon General, will be key participants in the report presentation.

DETAILS OF THE report will be outlined to a special meeting of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee by Dr. Abel Wolman of The Johns Hopkins University. He headed a three-man board of sanitary engineering experts which compiled the report data.

Other board members were Louis R. Howson, of the Chicago consulting firm of Alford, Burdick & Howson, and George E. Hubbell, of the firm of Hubbell, Roth & Clark, of Birmingham.

Dr. Wolman will discuss the report's four main topics. They are:

- Determination of future sewerage needs and how they are affected by expected population and industrial growth.
- Technical requirements of future sewerage collection and treatment.
- Cost estimates and methods of financing improvements.
- Recommendations for a system to co-ordinate construction, operation and maintenance.

The three experts described the report as "a practical, well-planned, long-range solution" to sewage disposal requirements in the area. The report, the experts said, will illustrate how the 216 local government units in the six counties can work together to continue the "orderly economic growth of the area."

"WITHOUT THIS kind of guidance a piecemeal approach would result in millions of dollars of unnecessary and wasteful expense, without producing a solution," they warned.

The 3,951 square-mile six-county area has 60 separate sewerage treatment facilities serving a population of more than 3.5 million persons. Another 630,000 persons are served by an estimated 177,000 septic tanks. By the year 2000, the area is expected to have a population of more than 7.25 million per-

Financing of the report was arranged by the SCSM. John H. Wit, senior vice president of the Manufacturers National Bank, is SCSM chairman.

The United States Public Health Service contributed $100,000. The Detroit Department of Water Supply gave $60,000. The six counties and private industrial, financial and public utilities joined in pledging the remaining $96,000.

During 1963 and 1964, the 88th Congress considered 240 bills of direct or indirect interest to the pharmaceutical industry. Thirty-one were enacted into law.
