

Hunter Dodge

499 South Hunter

It fits! This beautiful new Dodge Coronet Station Wagon does hold a family with five growing children... and in complete comfort! Dick French (shown presenting Trevor and Elinor Hall with the "key") found that the Hall youngsters shared his enthusiasm about this beautiful new white Coronet Wagon. Mr. French had barely begun mentioning the economy features when the girls discovered the attractive, co-ordinated interior (a deep, rich burgundy)... and Dad liked the modest price. Mom found this model just as easy to park as all the other beautiful Dodges they had seen. The Halls like the idea of a new Dodge for Christmas... and you will, too! Come in and check all the gleaming models on display. Let your friends at Hunter Dodge show you why a new Dodge should be part of your family (fun this Christmas (and for years to come).

What would Christmas be without books? Perhaps the same gay turmoil, at first. Then, when home is a little calmer and wrappings have all been gathered away, there is a quiet time, just right for reading a new book. That's when a good book from LaBelles children's book collection just hits the spot. Elinor Hall, Cam and Andrea spent an afternoon poking through the titles... reading a little here and there... finding many fine books for thoughtful Christmas giving. Cam is holding the new Barbie book by Lawrence Maybee. Tom Tracker caught Andrea's eye. (For boys, age 10-14) Far Out the Long Canal, by Meindert DeJong, is a marvelous book about Holland in the 1880's. Mystery stories, outer space stories, animal books... see what we mean? Won't you drop in?
