

Huston Hardware

205 North Woodward

"Can't open 'til Christmas Mom!" It looks like Mark being a smart little boy spotted the gleam in his mother's eye when she saw the attractive display of small electrical appliances at Huston Hardware. He already chose a sparkling Sunbeam egg poacher ($16.50) for her. Paul Kurth Huston's owner, was showing Elinor the newest, most wanted features of the General Electric Spray Steam Dry Iron ($17.95). The whole family seems to think the Osterizer would make a "divine" gift (milk-shakes at home?) at only $29.75. Mom seems bewildered it's cause she would like all these time-savers . . . and more. Huston is featuring the complete line of small electrical appliances (General Electric, Sunbeam, Oster Presto, and Muro) ranging from $10 to $45. Are you getting some good Christmas gift ideas? Huston's is remaining open Friday night 'til December 23rd . . . so come in at your convenience (Don't wait too long, though. Many of these electrical gifts become a little scarce long about December 20th!)

Which will it be . . . an RCA Victor "Home Entertainment Center" (RCA Victor Color TV and Stereo combination) or RCA Victor New Vista Color TV? Well, it looks like our shoppers could be in a quandry. The whole family would enjoy RCA Victor Color TV now that hundreds of favorite TV programs are being transmitted in vibrant color. Bob Milks is demonstrating the beautifully carved French Provincial "Versailles" in Antique parchment white finish. A truly magnificent piece of furniture combining the finest in color TV with a multi-speaker New Vista Living Stereo Sound System. To the left of Mr. Milks is the "Engberg", an RCA Victor Cabinet classic of Scandinavian design. Of course, the picture is lifelike, natural color so bright you have to see it to believe it! (From $399.95!) So, don't disappoint your family this Christmas. Buy RCA Victor Color TV at Milks. Open every evening 'til 9.
