'Woodland Pixies' Decorate Quarton

The Blue Birds at Quarton School spent a busy fall making Christmas decorations out of natural materials for the Christmas trees in the school hall, this being one of their service projects for the year. The fairyland figures are made from seeds, peels, corn husks, shavings and other plant materials. Among the group of 30 eight-year-olds who contributed their artistic talents are Jane Pine (from left), Holly McCollum and Carolyn Sharkoff.

Woman's Club Prepares for Busy Holiday

The English country residence which houses the Village Woman's Club glows with the holiday spirit physically and spiritually. The oaken door, made musical by a strip of sleighbells, gives entrance to the club lobby dominated by a decorated box filled with club members' gifts for patients in the Oakland Medical Care Facility and the Geriatrics Divisions of Pontiac State Hospital.

Lights from the blue-green ornamented tree in the living room will shine on Santa as he talks to members' children and grandchildren on Sunday.

Mrs. Edward Nicholas has arranged for Santa's presence along with a supply of candy canes. Santa's elves, dressed for the occasion, will be Mrs. Paul Garrick, Mrs. Roger Craton, Mrs. Wendell Smith and Mrs. Brian Van Mols.

HIGHLIGHTING the wall on the way down the stairs to the dining room is a display of paintings by mother and daughter, Grace T. Fox and Kathryn G. Fox of Birmingham. This display is one in a series of Village Woman's Club revolving art exhibits, featuring artwork from local artists.

Mrs. Stratton Brown and Mrs. Donald Parsons, both artists in their own right, are in charge of the exhibits.

Tables topped with holly, red-velvet bows, and doves will be in use this evening. Mrs. Leah Fox has arranged an evening of Christmas caroling, both unusual and the favorites.

The "Hill" group of nine girls from Bloomfield Hills High School, will sing holiday music and will join members and their guests in singing. Mrs. Leah Stauffer, Mrs. William Bachman Jr. and Mrs. Morris Purdy will hostess for the evening.

ORT Membership Has Annual Dinner

The Oakland-Hills chapter of ORT is holding its annual paid-up membership dinner on Friday at the Oak Park Community Center in Oak Park. The special meeting will commence at 8:30 p.m. followed by dinner.

The main speaker for the evening will be Lillian Bernstein, comptroller on Jewish Missions to illustrate her subject, Miss Bernstein will use slides, photographs and actual tape recordings.

A hat is a flag, a shield, a bit of armor. A hat is the difference between being dressed and being dressed up; it's the difference between looking adequate and looking your best. A piece of magic to illustrate her subject, Miss Bernstein will use slides, photographs and actual tape recordings.
