FRANKLIN VILLAGE

Wood Creek Women Share Pre-Christmas Entertainment

By MARION CASKEY
MA 6-6860

Firm believers that Christmas becomes more meaningful when it's shared are Mrs. Mel Banfield and a group of her Wood Creek neighbors.

Wednesday afternoon, 30 ladies from Presbyterian Village were entertained at the Banfield's Wellington Road home. The 10 hostesses had gathered at Ellen's Monday for a cookie-decorating session and packed cookies as gifts for each of the 30 guests.

Entertainment was provided by the Kendall Larks, a 35-member chorus from Kendallwood. Mary Spener, director of the group, moved to be an old-fashioned Christmas party.

Saturday night the Banfield's will be hosting a group of friends for their annual Christmas carol party. Sunday Ellen will accompany the junior Wood Creekers on the occasion while they go caroling about the village.

In four groups, the children will cover the whole area. One group plans to go over to the Sarah Fisher home to carol up and down the corridors. Peggy Ray and Verna Trout are to be credited for organizing this activity.

SO OFTEN local Christmas parties are annual affairs anxiously anticipated by the neighborhood residents. Stone Oaks subdivision will gather at the Victor Browns on Franklin Road Saturday night for its yearly Christmas party.

Neighbors of the DiGiovanni on Roberts and Chevit drives are invited for merrymaking at their annual party Saturday. As usual, dancing, square and contemporary, will keep things jumping until the wee hours.

FOR 13 YEARS, first graders of Franklin School have been hosts to their parents for a holiday tea. Tuesday climaxed weeks of feverish preparations and the children's efforts resulted in a truly gala affair.

They had rehearsed songs, created a Christmas tree from paper chains, volunteered ornaments, cookies, candies and goodies from home, and set the table themselves for the event. When mothers arrived, the six year-olds served them with practiced aplomb.

The tea was a success for the children, the teachers, Mrs. Koch and Miss Fosley and all.

In Dorchester subdivision, the women have a luncheon group that meets every month. Comes Saturday, luncheon will become pot-luck supper, and the group will include husbands. They'll all gather at the Ralph Smiths for a party.

GUESTS OF Dee Maylene and Lorrice Huffman of German Mill Road exchanged skiing chatter and such over a gala holiday brunch Sunday. Lorrice and Dee made a very swish appearance in their festive hostess skirts.

Jill Marce, young landlady to the above, dug all aflutter over an impending holiday sojourn to Jamaica. With 40 fellow Alma students, Jill will board a chartered bus in Alma tomorrow and journey to Miami, then fly to chartered plane to Kingston Sunday.

The group will stay at the University of the West Indies there and return Jan. 3. A fellow Alma student from Jamaica, Tony Taylor, has invited a few of his fraternity brothers and friends to Jamaica each Christmas vacation for the past three years.

He has arranged for complimentary tickets for the opening of the Kingston Playboy Club and promised a wonderful, partying two weeks. Crowning feature there will be 30 boys and 11 girls!

Arriving home for the holidays Saturday from William Woods junior college in Fulton, Mo., will be Pinky Ziessow, Connie Shelton and Judy Swartz. On the 22nd, Ziessow of Redfern Road, will have a luncheon for some of Pinky's college friends and their mothers.

BUSINESS TRIPS always make a wonderful excuse for a husband-and-wife's vacation. The Hays Scheliffes of Pondy New Road made the most of a New Orleans convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers. After spending three days exploring the French Quarter and enjoying sumptuous dining, they flew to Miami for four more days vacation.

Other New Orleans visitors were the R. C. Morgans of 13 Mile Road. Business provided them with the opportunity to visit the Rose's for a new roommate, now living in the crescent city. Grandma and grandpa obligingly cared for the two Morgan offspring.

MRS. R. G. Holderness of Woodlore Drive has three parties planned for the holiday season. Tonight neighbors and bowling buddies will gather for cocktails.

Sunday, she has invited some of her girl friends from her single days. Later in the holidays, the Holdernesses will entertain for their business friends. Their four daughters will be arriving home for vacation and all are excitedly planning to attend Gov. Romney's inaugural ball.

The J. Y. Cutlers of Franklin Road are back in wintry Franklin after a three-week vacation in Florida. They took son Craig and Grandson Guy Henning of Chicago, both 10-year-olds, sight-seeing all over Florida.

The boys were particularly excited about the underwater show at Weeki Wachee Springs and the glass bottom boats at Silver Springs and Rainbow Springs.

A WARM TRADITION in the Woodlore-Nottingham neighborhood is the practice of giving a tea for each new neighbor. Last Friday, Mrs. Julius Abramson invited about 40 neighbors in to meet Mrs. Kenneth Singer who just moved in on Woodlore.

Marvel and Kenneth Singer have three children, Nancy, 15, in the 10th grade at Groves; Margaret, 10, in the fifth grade at Franklin; and Elizabeth, 4. Mr.

Singer is a builder and the family moved from Detroit.

New on West Havorford are Leo and Norma Silver. He is a value engineering administrator with the defense department. They have two children, Lauri, a sophomore at U of M and Alan, 14, in the ninth grade at Groves. They are interested in golf and hope to resume gardening, come spring.

If you have a slightly scorched spot on a shirt, try rubbing it with a cut onion and then soaking it in cold water. While it is still damp from fluid, dust some colorless talcum powder on and later brush it off or steam the area over a kettle for a few minutes.
