Bloomfield Drain

Three communities in the area may ask Hubbell, Roth and Clark consulting engineers, to make a survey of the Old Bloomfield Drain in an effort to stop the pooling of water and overflow into the Rouge River.

Bloomfield Township, along with Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills are expected to share the $1,800,000 cost of the study, according to township supervisor Homer Case.

The problem area presently is a portion of Beverly Hills. It would cost about $1 million to construct a relief for the Old Bloomfield Drain, Case said.

Sees Light In Sky over Adams Area

A light that streaks from east to west and looks like "a beautiful blue diamond" in the sky has been reported by a resident of the North Adams area.

Mrs. Seth T. Foreman, 2854 Stoney Ridge, Troy, said she observed the celestial phenomenon between 9 and 10 p.m. Sunday from the picture window of her home.

"It's not a shooting star," she said. "I've seen plenty of those."

Mrs. Foreman described the light as about the size of a silver dollar "which stays a solid, beautiful blue until it disappears about 100 feet from the ground."

SHE SAW the light once before, about three weeks ago, and wonders if other Birmingham area residents have observed it.

"It lasts only a couple of seconds," she said. "It may be particles of a man-made satellite that have broken off."

She said she is going to watch for the object again when weather conditions permit.

Further Study Sought At Maple Intersection

The problem of whether there is a problem at the intersection of Maple and Baldwin appeared on the Birmingham City Commission agenda Monday night and the problem (if there is one) is still unsettled.

Several weeks ago, Commissioner David F. Breck asked that a study be made to determine if a foot bridge could be constructed over Maple for pedestrian use.

Police department surveys showed very little use of the intersection by pedestrians. Breck said he was concerned mainly with school-age youngsters crossing Maple.

"OUR STUDY," Chief of Police Ralph W. Moxley said, "showed that only 18 youngsters might conceivably cross at that spot and 10 of those, all of whom attend Holy Name, live on Arlington."

"Since Arlington is more than a mile from the school, it is doubtful they would walk anyway."

Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham suggested the city install a 24-hour traffic signal at the intersection.

Ingraham said he believed there was a problem especially from traffic wanting to make a left turn onto Maple from Baldwin.

MOXLEY ALSO said department surveys showed that no traffic conditions did not warrant a traffic signal at the intersection.

He estimated the cost at $23,000.

Other allocations include $100,000 to complete and equip a junior high school under construction on Orchard Lake Road; $200,000 for the purchase of additional elementary sites; and $100,000 for renovation of the high school.

Add Water Main To Serve Three Twp. Subdivisions

A second 8-inch water main, at an estimated cost of $13,800, will be constructed to Balmoral, Kirkwood and Brass Three subdivisions in Bloomfield Township.

The feeder line, recommended by engineer Jim Scott, was approved by the township board Monday night. Future tap-in fees from homes on Broughton Drive are expected to recoup about $11,000 of the expense, Scott said.

Engineering and advertising for bids on the 1,500 feet of main will begin immediately, according to Supervisor Homer Case. The new line will relieve the pressure of the first one, which is overtaxed, he added.

Several manufacturers are offering trim-looking knickers for golfers, an item which was big in the '20's.

Santa to Extend Workshop Hours

An opportunity for fathers to bring their boys and girls to see Santa Claus in his Birmingham Workshop in Shain Park is being provided with the announcement of new "open late" hours Friday.

Santa will greet youngsters from 8 to 9 p.m. that day, as well as from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. The regular daytime hours will be observed Monday - Saturday through Dec. 24.

Santa arrived in Birmingham Dec. 7, and since then has listened to more than 1,800 requests for Christmas presents. This estimate is based upon the number of candy cans given out to his visitors.

Among the children Santa has talked to was one little boy who recited his list at length and only then burst into tears and explained that he was lost.

MRS. ROOSEVELT, who lauded the women for their key work, said this was their "golden opportunity to serve as active assistants in medical research for a future that would be free of medical defects."

She noted that the emphasis in the January March of Dimes drive would be shifted from polio to the control and elimination of birth defects.

Representing county youths was Judo Shetty, Miss Teen-Age Detroit, who called her participation "a sign of maturity."

March of Dimes appreciation plaques, to service clubs for their drive participation, were given by Elaine to the Wolverine Enterprises, the Wild Game and Tame Dinners and the Fernside Exchange Club. The latter organization made a surprise contribution of $1,000 to the March at the dinner.

The late fashion editor Carmel Snow said "Elegance is good taste plus a dash of daring."

The board of education will use half of the funds to build an elementary school on a site in the southern portion of the township. The $500,000 unit will be built on Maple between Middle Belt and Orchard Lake Roads.

Other allocations include $100,000 to complete and equip a junior high school under construction on Orchard Lake Road; $200,000 for the purchase of additional elementary sites; and $100,000 for renovation of the high school.
