

Changing Uniforms

Teen Dance Planned for B'ham Youths

Students of high school and college age will get a chance to swing to four hours of dancing at the Birmingham Community House Wednesday night. The Fugitives, a dance combo regularly featured at the Hideout in Grasse Pointe, will supply the music. The dance, originally planned for college students home on vacation, is now open to all teens of high school age.

TICKETS ARE available at Marty's and Grinnell's in Birmingham at $1.50 per person and $2 per couple. Dress is sport coats for boys and school wear for girls. The Fugitives are in their last year of operation. Paul Kelcourse, lead guitar and singer, and John Boyles, 959 Kenneaw, Birmingham, have both been accepted at University of Michigan, where they hope to start a new band. E. G. Clawson is also considering U-M, while the remaining two members, Butch Hamilton and Gary Quackenbush, are juniors at Seaholm and will be back for another year.
