

Church Choir, U-M Students Stage Concert

In concert with 10 members of the University of Michigan orchestra, the church choir of the Franklin Community church presented Vivaldi's "Gloria" Sunday evening.

Steven Jones, U-M music major who has also been serving as the Franklin church choir director, conducted the entire concert.

Karen Emens, soprano, and Dale Wodavec, mezzo soprano, were soloists and Barbara Walz was featured on the harpsichord.

Install Pastor At Church Of Master

The Rev. C. William Pearson was installed as the pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Master, Troy, during family worship services Sunday, December 20.

Installing Rev. Pearson and preaching the sermon was Rev. Howard Christensen, clergy assistant to the president of the Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

REV. PEARSON, who lives at 2220 Yorkshire, Birmingham, was assigned to this area on July 1, 1963, to establish a new Lutheran congregation, which was organized on Nov. 1, 1964.

The congregation worships in the Poppleton School, Crooks and Big Beaver Roads, with Sunday church school at 9:30 a.m. and family worship at 11 a.m. A nursery for preschool children is provided.

STOPPING FOR A CLOSER LOOK AT AN ASSEMBLY OPERATION

A small sampling of some 16,000 persons who visited Pontiac Motor Division to see the new cars assembled.

Tourism 'Big Business' In Car Assembly Plant

The daily guided tours of Pontiac Motor Division's home assembly plant in Pontiac are fast becoming a major year-around tourist attraction.

Some 16,000 persons representing all 50 states in the Union, all provinces of Canada and 35 foreign countries, ranging from France to Saudi Arabia, have visited Pontiac's production facilities so far in 1964.

"The thousands of visitors who go through our plant every year are a source of inspiration to us. Their approval of our modern equipment and their expressions of confidence in the quality of our product keep us aware of the high standards we must continue to set at Pontiac," E. M. Estes, a General Motors vice president and Pontiac's general manager, said.

THE HEART of Pontiac's home plant consists of 190 acres of modern under-roof production facilities where thousands of highly trained production employees and skilled craftsmen assemble hundreds of new Pontiacs and Tempests every working day.

The plant tour, which takes approximately 45 minutes, includes explanations of the purpose and descriptions of the many assembly operations. The visitors see a car actually built from the bare frame to the finished product being driven off the assembly line.

Visitors are asked to register at the tour lobby inside the Pontiac main gate off Kennett Street and it is recommended that advance reservations be made.

The tours are conducted about 10 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. during the winter and at 8:15 a.m., 2:45 p.m., 10:15 a.m., 12:45 p.m. and 1:45 p.m. during the summer.

EMU Boasts Student Court

After fifteen years of existence, the Eastern Michigan University's Student Court remains unusual among college student government organizations. It is probably the only judicial board of its kind in Michigan.

It is run by the students alone without interference from a faculty council. The only direct liaison between the student court and the administration is found in the role of Student Affairs Vice President William C. Lawrence, acting as the court's consultant between sessions only.

Referred to as the "supreme court" by students on campus, the authority of the court rests upon implied consent. Students are urged to press cases of honest concern upon the court, which has original jurisdiction as well as appellate. Its original commission was based on the need for interpretation of the laws of the student council; but its responsibilities have broadened.

THE PRESENT membership consists of a chief justice and four associates. Their policies generally are designed to maintain standards determined by the peers of the rule-breaker. Being close to actual student cases discussed in court, the student judges are seldom aloof or harsh. At times, they accept a student's recommendation for his own punishment.

A few pre-law students are involved sometimes in defense and prosecution, but a public defender system makes possible representation by any person chosen to speak

Perfect Playmates

What little girl doesn't love to look at dolls? And antique ones, at that! One resident who understands is Mrs. Annette Anderson, 789 Southfield Road, Birmingham, who opens her home to Girl Scout and Brownie troops to see her large collection. Admiring her hobby are (from left) Jane Moyer, 8, Laurie Roberts, 8, and Holly Smith, 7, all of Troop 1004, Vaughan School. Mrs. Anderson is a member of the National Doll Association.
