

Mrs. Rinehart Adds New Twist to Party

By MARTI CARN

Mrs. Jack J. Rinehart entertained a dozen Birmingham friends for cocktails, luncheon and bridge at her husband's office on Lahser Road.

Guests arrived at noon to enter a beautifully decorated foyer, lifted a telephone to announce themselves to a receptionist who, in turn, passed a buzzer which opened a door leading to an elevator. Party-goers stepped off at the second floor into a circular lounge which was equipped with comfortable chairs, tables, lamps and a mirrored semi-circular bar where Russ, of-fice handyman doubling as bartender, was present to pour milady's refreshment.

To the left of the lounge Mr. Rinehart greeted everyone from his desk in a spacious office—at the right is brother Mel Rinehart's office. The entire floor is covered with champagne colored carpet and soft background music flows throughout the rooms.

Following cocktails, guests made their way to the first floor living room where they were served a delicious luncheon highlighted by a birthday cake in honor of the hostess.

Mrs. Rinehart announced that she will continue her birthday celebration this week in her Lauderdale-by-the-Sea apartment, and at Daytona Beach where she, Mr. Rinehart and a group of friends will view the stock car races.

FOX AND HOUNDS INN was the setting on Friday for a Valentine's luncheon and bridge party given by Mrs. Stuart W. Frankford in honor of Mrs. George Cope.

Among those present were Mrs. Howard Last, Mrs. Raymond S. West, Mrs. Joseph H. Newnan, Mrs. Del C. Oliver and Mrs. Harold W. H. Burrows.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Henderson talked idly of attending Canada's Winter Carnival when, during the time of their engagement, they saw a travelogue of the festival at a Birmingham theater.

The couple married, moved to Chicago, and returned to Birmingham with an addition to their family—baby Mark. The Hendersons spent their first vacation in Canada. At Quebec they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Mason Thompson, friends from Glen Ellyn, Ill., to take in the Carnival. In the Laurentian Mountains the foursome stayed at Lac Beauport Ski Lodge, St. Castin, and enjoyed a gay weekend in Montreal before their return last week.

Bette Gray, curious for the feel of a dress again instead of ski pants, remained in town with husband John to attend a Valentine's dinner dance at Oakland Hills Country Club Saturday. Next weekend they'll return to their lodge at Otsego.

Preceding the Valentine party the Grays entertained Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ahern, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hodgson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hudson for cocktails.

Birmingham residents taking advantage of the welcome (??) snowfall to pursue their winter sport on the ski slopes are Mr. and Mrs. George Barker who spent the weekend at Mason's Lodge near Gaylord, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mack II at their favorite resort, Otsego Ski Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Roth entertained with a Valentine cocktail party on Saturday evening. Among those present at the black tie affair were Mr. and Mrs. John C. McCurry, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pember, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kenneth Sanden and Mr. and Mrs. David B. Falconer.

Festival

THIS YEAR the Festival will be called "Hands Across the Sea", to be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Saturday, April 18 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. As in previous years, money raised at this Festival will be used to further the American Field Service international scholarship program.

Among the students attending the talent show and supper party were Olafur Oddsson of Iceland from Bloomfield Hills High School; Goran Jallerstedt of Sweden from Cranbrook School; Margarita Berhouet of Uruguay from Kingwood School; and Maria Thielmann of Chile, Francois Derioz of France, Ragnar Carstam of Sweden from Groves High School. Also attending are Marie Burbano-Davila of Ecuador, Noeline Jones of Australia and Peter Poldervaart of Belgium from Seaholm High School.
