Sable Island, off the coast of Nova Scotia, is often called, "The Graveyard of the Atlantic" because of the ships wrecked on the shore. The area is about 20 square miles, but the island is gradually sinking into the ocean. The only inhabitants are men tending the lighthouses, a life-saving station and a radio station.

THEY CAN COME HOME AGAIN . . . the hundreds of thousands of patients in our mental institutions. The mentally ill who, until a few years ago, were destined to a dreary, lonesome life of long hospitalization. Today, the picture is brighter. New drugs, psychotherapy and other treatment methods are returning the mentally ill to society more quickly than ever before. Of the almost 700 thousand persons admitted each year to mental institutions, 75% are returned to their families within the first year. With understanding and care . . . THEY CAN COME HOME AGAIN.
