Bits of Birmingham

There's nothing like a good neighbor, according to the William F. Bellairs, 1382 S. Elm, Birmingham. Last week's snow storm blocked the Bellairs' driveway and the family thought they would be stuck in the house until along came neighbor Frank Isadore with his Jeep to push the snow away. In honor of the liberation, Janice Bellairs composed a short poem to the family's rescuer.

To the house we thought we would have to keep,
 Until we saw your wonderful Jeep.
 You piled the snow in a great big heap,
 It must have been four feet deep.
 For pushing the snow in a heap so high,
 You have earned a Blueberry Pie!
 The poem was attached, of course, to a blueberry pie.
