The owner of two German shepherd dogs that attacked a 77-year-old woman in Bloomfield Hills Friday must appear in justice court Tuesday.

A. E. Forster, 230 Woodbury, Bloomfield Hills, was ticketed by police for violation of a city ordinance which prohibits allowing dogs to run loose and for harboring a vicious dog.

The victim of the attack was Mrs. Margot Taylor, who lives with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harness, at 240 Lowell Court, Bloomfield Hills.

MRS. TAYLOR was thrown to the ground and bitten on the arm by the dogs shortly after she had stepped out of a cab at the Lowell Court address.

The cab driver, Clarence A. Gibbs, heard her screams and rushed to her rescue. Gibbs then drove Mrs. Taylor to Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak where she was treated and released.

The dogs were rounded up by police and taken to a Royal Oak veterinary hospital where they are under observation. The dogs had been vaccinated for rabies, police said.

FORSTER SAID the animals escaped while they were being transferred from an outside kennel to a garage.

Capt. Walter Sluiter of Bloomfield Hills police said it was the first incident in which a resident had been viciously attacked by a dog.

Plan Community Market

ident of Snyder, Kinney & Bennett; Mrs. Grace McMeheh, of the firm's commercial department; and Bruce Lafer, architectural-designer, Bloomfield Hills. Colonial in style, the market will be similar to Detroit's famed Broadway Market.

The type-style known as Roman, adapted from early Latin writings, was first used by a German printer about 1464, twelve years after the historic publication of the Gutenberg Bible. It was greatly improved by the Italians a few years later and was introduced into England in 1518 by Richard Pynson, printer to the King of England. It is thanks, largely, to Pyn-

Bell to Spend $1 Million on Local Projects

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will spend a total of $1,001,000 in Birmingham this year for the expansion and improvement of its facilities and $398,000 in West Bloomfield.

Robert L. Kilpatrick, manager here for Michigan Bell, said the expenditure is part of a statewide 1964 construction program of $93.1 million—nearly $5 million in excess of the 1963 outlay.

Kilpatrick said this year's program was increased by the company in response to the intent of the federal tax reduction to stimulate the economy through stepped-up business activity.

IN THE two communities, the program calls for the combined expenditure of $159,000 for telephone equipment in homes and offices, $380,000 for central office equipment, $284,000 for outside plant facilities and about $26,000 for land and buildings.

Throughout the state, Kilpatrick said, more than half the company's 1964 program—$49.1 million—has been earmarked for expansion to meet growth. Michigan Bell expects to add 110,000 telephones to the more than 3,200,000 now in use.

Aside from the gain in telephones, the company anticipates an increase in telephone usage, including an eight per cent boost in long distance calling.

THE PROGRAM also provides $12 million for modernization and improvement of the company's plant facilities and $32 million to replace worn out equipment.

The schedule calls for the intro-

Know Your Jeweler ... THE CARAT WEIGHTS BALANCE, But ...

Claims to that effect can be made. But, given equal carat weights and different prices, the lower priced diamond automatically has less of the desired qualities that characterize the other diamond. Obviously, this does not apply only to the prices used as examples above.

Know your dealer. In him must be placed your trust for value received. The reliable dealer is one who has pride in his profession, whose integrity is a matter of public knowledge. Aside from his integrity, he will never give less than fullest value because his living depends on your future purchases. If he appraises your "bargain" diamond as value less than paid for, it is not sour grapes, but the judgment of one who knows diamonds.

Know The 4 C's Of Diamond Value

Know that every diamond has four characteristics that determine its value—Carat weight, Color, Clarity and Cut. A $100 diamond can have as perfect a combination of these as a $1,000 diamond. The difference will be size. The individual investing in a diamond should ask himself whether it's size alone or the best combination of the four C's he wants in his diamond. A reliable dealer will give the latter.
