Never The Bum's Rush

Did you ever walk into a furniture store and suddenly you're surrounded by fast talking salesmen who are trying to push every item in the store? Then they'll follow you around as if you were both jammed in a crowded elevator, trying desperately to hand you their pen so you can sign on that dotted line. Well, we don't care for this type of selling, in fact we detest it.

When you come into our store, we know you can relax, and you will know you can look at our fine furniture and browse through our magnificent collection of decorator items, without being bothered. Of course, if you would like decorating advice, don't hesitate to ask. Our entire staff is thoroughly trained and experienced in interior decorating and cordiality —but definitely not the Bum's Rush.
