own words: "Things were jumping all over the place."

THE BIRMINGHAM doctor was seated next to Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, whose husband is secretary of defense, when that gentleman and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were propelled into the gathering in the wake of the President. The energetic LBJ bestowed a resounding buss on Mrs. McNamara and his cabinet members followed suit, after which the chief executive said: "I thought you women doctors would like to meet some of the men who do things too."

The luncheon was a further event by the presence of Lynda Biri Johnson, collegiate daughter of the First Family, and her friend Warrie Lynn Smith, who is living at the White House while both girls attend George Washington University.

"woman doer," author Katharine Anne Porter, to quiz her on her own story, "Marie Conception," before an exam in their literature class.

Other women guests who were honored at the affair included singer Marian Anderson; ballerina Maria Tallchief, Mrs. E. Lee O'Brien, past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Katherine G. Peden, past president of the National Business and Professional Women's Club.

After luncheon, they listened to Kate M. Tuchman, recognized as an authority on education and rehabilitation of drastically underprivileged children through her achievements and innovations as principal of Public School 184 in the Harlem section of New York.

Center for Pre-College Study Scheduled at O-U

A three-week program in study skills improvement to prepare students for college will be held at Oakland University this summer. Registration is open to those who will be entering any college or university.

Called the Pre-College Study Center, the program is designed to bridge the gap between high school and college and will be available on a resident or non-resident basis from July 20 to August 7. Resident students will live in University dormitories and in addition to the academic program, will enjoy a full schedule of cultural and recreational activities. Among the offerings will be concerts of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, which will be playing a explorations, composition skills and mathematics enrichment.

The Pre-College Study Center is an outgrowth of nine successful sessions of a study skills workshop held at Oakland since 1961.

THE THREE ENRICHMENT courses in addition to the Study Skills workshop are science explorations—problem solving techniques applicable in college chemistry, physics and biological science courses; composition skills—a workshop course on writing; and mathematics enrichment in which students will analyze mathematical problems, suggest ways of solving them and be taught the newest approaches.

For a descriptive brochure on the Pre-College Study Center readers may contact the division of continuing education, Oakland University, Rochester.
